

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE.

In presenting to the public the fifth volume of the "Massachusetts State Record," we take pleasure in making our grateful acknowledgments for the many manifestations of favor which have been extended by correspondents and others in behalf of the work.

We have continued to send out our circulars of inquiry annually; and although we have sought extensively the aid of others, and have spared no pains on our own part, still, we have not reached that degree of accuracy which is so desirable and important in all works of reference. That our volume is as accurate as other works of the same class, is not sufficient to satisfy us; we wish it to be more so,—and our ability to insure success in this respect, will chiefly depend upon the coöperation of those citizens who are able to aid us by their constant advice.

Our readers will perceive that the design of the work has been somewhat enlarged, and that we have inserted information in regard to the New England States; namely, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. This new feature will be continued in our future volumes, and we shall regard with especial favor any suggestions or contributions calculated to subserve the convenience of the people of these States.

It will be perceived that we have omitted entirely the list of Traders in Massachusetts. We have been induced to make this omission for obvious reasons. In no year have our returns been complete. In consequence of the frequent changes which are taking place, caused by failures, removal, or new copartnerships, it is quite impossible to give a list that shall prove safe and useful throughout the year.

By the liberality of the government of the New England Historic-Genealogical Society, we are enabled to embellish the present volume with an engraved portrait of John Endicott, first governor of Massachusetts. Our readers will find a brief sketch of his life in the "State Record," volume 2, p. 38,

We are indebted to Louis Dwight and G. J. F. Bryant, Esquires, for the cuts which are inserted in the chapter on Public Improvements; and to J. B. Felt, Esq., for the fine cut of the Derby Mansion, Salem.

Our special acknowledgments are due to Hon. L. V. Bell, J. B. Felt, Esq., N. B. Shartleff, M. D., Rev. Alex. Young, D. D., Benj. H. Currier, Esq., Rev. J. S. Clark, Rev. Luther Bailey, T. M. Hayes, Esq., Joseph Shed, Esq., and Mr. G. W. Foxcraft, of Massachusetts. Also, to Hon. John G. Sawyer, of Maine; Messrs. Brown and Parsons, of Connecticut; E. P. Walton, Jr., Esq., of Vermont; and G. Parker Lyon, Esq., of New Hampshire.

All communications and corrections intended for the sixth volume of the "State Record," should be addressed to the Editor, Boston, on or before the 1st of October, 1851.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE RECORD.

ECLIPSES IN 1851.*

: THERE will be two Eclipses of the Sun, and two of the Moon, this year.

I. Jan. 17, Moon eclipsed at the time of Full Moon, in the morning in the United States, except the eastern part of Maine, where it will be afternoon. Invisible here, but will be seen in the opposite regions of the globe. Magnitude, 5.58 digits on the Moon's northern limb.

II. Feb. 1, Sun eclipsed at the time of New Moon in the morning, but will be in the evening of Jan. 31, in the States and territories west of the Missisippi river. Invisible in America. The Sun may be seen, more or less eclipsed on the southern limb, at Australia, the Cape of Good Hope, and the southern part of Madagascar; and on the northern limb, at New Zealand. This Eclipse will be central and annular on the meridian in longitude 98° 22' east from Greenwich, and latitude 58° 23' south.

III. July 12, evening, and July 13, morning, Moon eclipsed, visible at Boston.

Magnitude of the Eclipse, = 8.5 digits.

IV. July 28, morning, Sun eclipsed; visible, more or less, throughout the U. States, with the exception of the southern part of Florida: on the Sun's northern limb, — partially visible at Boston.

^{*} Taken, in part, from the Illustrated Family Almanac, published by the Tract Society, and from the Boston Almanac.

At Astoria, in Oregon, this Eclipse will be chiefly visible. The Sun will rise there at 4 h. 40 m. with 7.01 digits eclipsed, and at 4 h. 58 m. it will be 9.18 digits eclipsed. The Eclipse will end at 5 h. 49 m. At San Francisco, the Sun will rise at 5 h. 2 m. with an Eclipse of 6.65 digits diminishing, which will end at 5 h. 43 m. This Eclipse will be more or less visible throughout Europe, and in the northern part of Africa. It will be central and total on the meridian in longitude 83° 43' west from Greenwich, and latitude 69° 54' north.

RISING AND SETTING OF PLANETS AND STARS.

The reader should understand that these are not materially affected by the longitude of a place: and also that when the hour is less than 6, it is in the morning; and when greater than 6, it is in the evening.

POPULATION AND REPRESENTATION .

Of the several towns in Massachusetts, 1840 to 1850, and 1850 to 1860.

Explanation.— The population in this Table was ascertained by the State and not by the United States. In the column under the heading "Rep." is inserted the number of Representatives which the town is entitled to send annually, for each ten years, 1840 to 1850, and 1850 to 1860. The next column—"10ths"—shows the number of years in the ten in which the Town is entitled to be represented, to be selected at the option of the voters. The Recapitulation, at the end, gives the number of Representatives and Senators in each county.

It appears from this useful Table, that 14 new towns have been incorporated since 1840, increasing the whole number from 307 to 321. The population according to these enumerations was 718,592 in 1840, and 973,715 in 1850, showing an increase of 255,123, or 35 per cent. In these enumerations, however, several classes of persons — the paupers and criminals — were omitted. The United States census. for 1840, gave 787,700, a difference from the State census of 19,108, That of 1850, gives 994,665, a difference from the State census of 20,950.

The Senate has been apportioned according to the provisions of the Constitution; and of course remains the same in number. In two counties only, Franklin and Suffolk, have any changes occurred. From the former one has been taken, and to the latter one has been The ratio of representation, provided by the Constitution, from 1840 to 1850, was 1,200 inhabitants for one representative, and 2,400 for each additional representative; and towns containing a less number than 1,200 might have been represented as many times in the ten years, as 160 is contained in the number of inhabitants of the town. The ratio of all these numbers has since been increased, and from 1850 to 1860, is to be 1,560 inhabitants for one representative, and 3,120 for each additional representative; and towns containing less than 1,560 may be represented as many times in the ten years, as 208 is contained in the number of inhabitants of the town. The aggregate number of representatives in the whole State has increased only 2 5-10ths. The number in one county remains unchanged: that in four is increased, and in nine it is diminished,

GOVERNORS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

In our first volume, we gave a complete list of the Governors of Massachusetts, from 1620 to 1847, with a brief sketch of Governor Carver. In the second, we gave sketches of the governors under the first charter, which were continued in the third and fourth volumes. We propose to continue, in this and in future volumes, brief sketches of each, in chronological order. We give also fac-similes of their autographs, faithfully taken by N. B. Shurtleff, M. D., from original documents. We are chiefly indebted, for the following notices, to the "American Biographical and Historical Dictionary," by W. Allen, A.M.

John Francock

JOHN HANCOCK, LL.D.,* Governor of Massachusetts, was the son of the reverend Mr. Hancock of Braintree, and was born about the year 1737. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1754. On the death of his uncle, Thomas Hancock, Esq., he received a very considerable fortune, and soon became an eminent merchant. In 1766, he was chosen a member of the House of Representatives for Boston, with James Otis, Thomas Cushing, and Samuel Adams. The seizure of his sloop Liberty, in 1768, for evading the laws of trade, occasioned a riot, and several of the commissioners of the customs narrowly escaped with their lives. As the controversy with Great Britain assumed a more serious shape, and affairs were hastening to a crisis. Mr. Hancock evinced his attachment to the rights of his country. He was president of the provincial congress in 1774. the twelfth of June of the following year, General Gage issued his proclamation, offering pardon to all the rebels, excepting Samuel Adams and John Hancock, "whose offences," it is declared, "are of too flagitious a nature to admit of any other consideration, than that of condign punishment." Mr. Hancock was at this time a member of the continental congress, of which he was chosen president on the twenty-fourth of May, in the place of Peyton Randolph, who was under the necessity of returning home. In this office, as the head of the illustrious congress of 1776, he signed the Declaration of Independence. In consequence of the ill state of his health, he took his leave of congress in October, 1777, and received their thanks for his unremitted attention and steady impartiality in discharging the duties of his office. Henry Laurens was his successor.

On the adoption of the present constitution of Massachusetts, he was chosen the first governor, in October, 1780, and was annually reelected and continued in that office till February, 1785, when he resigned. In 1787, he was again chosen in the place of Mr. Bowdoin, and remained in the chair till his death, October 8, 1793, aged fifty-six years. His administration was very popular. It was apprehended by some that, on his accession, the dignity of government would not be sufficiently maintained; but his language on assuming the chair was manly and decisive, and by his moderation and lenity the civil convulsion was completely quieted without the shedding of blood by the hand of the civil magistrate. Fourteen persons, who received sentence of death, were pardoned. In his public speeches to the legislature, he acquitted himself with a degree of popular eloquence which is seldom equalled. In one of his last acts as governor, he supported in a dignified manner the sovereignty of the individual States. By a process commenced against Massachusetts in favor of William Vassal, Esq., he was summoned by a writ to answer to the prosecution in the court of the United States. But he declined the smallest concession which might lessen the independence of the State, whose interests were intrusted to his care, and he supported his opinion with firmness and dignity. Litigations of this nature were soon afterwards precluded by an amendment of the constitution of the United States.

Mr. Hancock is represented as not favored with extraordinary powers of mind, and as not honoring the sciences very much by his personal attentions. But he was easy in his address, polished in manners, affable, and liberal; and, as president of congress, he exhibited a dignity, impartiality, quickness of conception, and constant attention to business, which secured him respect. As the chairman of a deliberative body, few could preside with such reputation. In the early periods of his public career, it has been said, that he was somewhat inconstant in his attachment to the cause of his country. Though this representation should be true; yet, from the commencement of the war, the part which he took was decided and uniform, and his patriotic exertions are worthy of honorable remembrance. By the suavity of his manners and his insinuating address, he secured an almost unequalled popularity. He could speak with ease and propriety on every subject. Being considered as a republican in principle, and a firm supporter of the cause of freedom, whenever he consented to be a candidate for governor, he was chosen to that office by an undisputed majority. In private life, he was charitable and generous. With a large fortune, he had also a disposition to employ it for useful and benevolent purposes. The poor shared liberally in his bounty. He was also a generous benefactor of Harvard college. He published an oration, which he delivered, on the Boston massacre, 1774.*

James Bourdoin

James Bowdoin, LL.D., Governor of Massachusetts, and a philosopher and statesman, was born in Boston, August 18, 1727, and was the son of William Bowdoin, an eminent merchant. His father was a native of France, and after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, he fled among the persecuted protestants of that country, first to Ireland, and afterwards to New England in 1688. He landed at Falmouth, now Portland, in Casco bay, and after continuing there about two years, removed to Boston in 1690. It is remarkable, that the day after his removal all the inhabitants of Casco bay were cut off by the Indians. He was a stranger, and his property was small; but, by his enterprise and persevering industry, he at length acquired an immense estate.

Mr. Bowdoin was graduated at Harvard college in 1745. his residence at the University, he was distinguished by his genius and unwearied application to his studies, while his modesty, politeness, and benevolence gave his friends assurance that his talents would not be prostituted, nor his future eminence employed for the promotion of unworthy ends. When he arrived at the age of twenty-one years, he came in possession of an ample fortune, left him by his father, who died September 4, 1747. He was now in a situation the most threatening to his literary and moral improvement, for one great motive which impels men to exertion could have no influence upon him, and his great wealth put it completely in his power to gratify the giddy desires of youth. But his life had hitherto been regular, and he now, with the maturity of wisdom, adopted a system which was most rational, pleasing, and useful. He determined to combine with the enjoyments of domestic and social life, a course of study which should enlarge and perfect the powers of his mind. At the age of twenty-two years he married a daughter of John Irving, Esq., and commenced a system of literary and scientific research, to which he adhered through life.

In the year 1753, the citizens of Boston elected him one of their representatives in the General Court, where his learning and elequence soon rendered him conspicuous. He continued in this station until 1756, when he was chosen into the Council, in which body he was long known and respected. With uniform ability and patriotism he advocated the cause of his country. In the disputes which laid the foundation of the American Revolution, his writings and exertions were eminently useful. Governors Bernard and Hutchinson were constrained to confess, in their confidential letters to the British ministry, the weight of his opposition to their measures. In 1769, Bernard negatived him, when he was chosen a member of the Council, in consequence of which the inhabitants of Boston again elected him their representative in 1770. Hutchinson, who in this year succeeded to the governor's chair, permitted him to take a seat at the Council Board, because, said he, in his official letters, "his opposition to our measures will be less injurious in the Council, than in the House of Representatives." In the year 1775, a year most critical and important to America, he was chosen President of the Council of Massachusetts, and he continued in that office the greater part of the time till the adoption of the State constitution in 1780. He was president of the convention which formed it; and some of its important articles are the result of his knowledge of government.

In the year 1785, after the resignation of Hancock, he was chosen governor of Massachusetts, and he was reëlected the following year. In this office, his wisdom, firmness, and inflexible integrity were conspicuous. He was placed at the head of the government at the most unfortunate period after the Revolution. The sudden influx of foreign luxuries had exhausted the country of its specie, while the heavy taxes of the war yet burdened the people. This state of suffering awakened discontent, and the spirit of disorder was cherished by unlicensed conventions, who arranged themselves against the legislature. One great subject of complaint was the administration of jus-Against lawyers and courts the strongest resentments were manifested. In many instances, the judges were restrained by mobs from proceeding in the execution of their duty. As the insurgents became more audacious from the lenient measures of the government, and were organizing themselves for the subversion of the constitution, it became necessary to suppress by force the spirit of insurrection. Governor Bowdoin accordingly ordered into service upwards of four thousand of the militia, who were placed under the command of the veteran General Lincoln. As the public treasury did not afford the means of putting the troops in motion, a number of the citizens of Boston, with the governor at the head of the list. subscribed in a few hours a sufficient sum to carry on the proposed expedition. This decisive step rescued the government from the contempt into which it was sinking, and was the means of saving the Commonwealth. The dangerous insurrection of Shays was thus completely quelled.

In the year 1787, Governor Bowdoin was succeeded by Hancock, in consequence probably of the exertions of the discontented, who might hope for greater elemency from another chief magistrate. He died in Boston, after a distressing sickness of three months, November 6, 1790, in the sixty-fourth year of his age.

Governor Bowdoin was a learned man, and a constant and generous friend of literature. He subscribed liberally for the restoration of the library of Harvard college in the year 1764, when it was consumed by fire. He was chosen a Fellow of the Corporation in the year 1779, but the pressure of more important duties induced him to resign this office in 1784. He ever felt, however, an affectionate regard for the interests of the college, and bequeathed it four hundred pounds, the interest of which was to be applied to the distribution of premiums among the students, for the encouragement of useful and polite literature. The American Academy of Arts and Sciences, incorporated at Boston, May 4, 1780, at a time when our country was in the deepest distress, was formed under his influence, and was an object of his constant attention. He was chosen its first president, and he continued in that office till his death. He was esteemed by its members as the pride and ornament of their institu-To this body he bequeathed one hundred pounds and his valuable library, consisting of upwards of twelve hundred volumes upon every branch of science, and in almost every language. was also one of the founders and the president of the Massachusetts Bank, and of the Humane Society of Massachusetts. The literary character of Governor Bowdoin gained him those honors which are usually conferred on men distinguished for their literary attainments. He was constituted Doctor of Laws by the University of Edinburgh, and was elected a member of the Royal societies of London and Dublin.

He was deeply convinced of the truth and excellence of Christianity, and it had a constant effect upon his life. He was for more than thirty years an exemplary member of the church in Brattle street, to the poor of which congregation he bequeathed a hundred pounds. His charities were abundant. He respected the injunctions of the gospel of Jesus Christ, which he professed. He knew the pleasures and advantages of family devotion, and he conscientiously observed the Christian Sabbath, presenting himself habitually in the holy temple, that he might be instructed in religious duty, and might unite with the worshippers of God. In his dying addresses to his family and servants, he recommended the Christian religion to them as of transcendent importance, and assured them that it was the only foundation of peace and happiness in life and death. As the hour of his departure approached, he expressed his satisfaction in the thought of going to the full enjoyment of God and his Redeemer.

Governor Bowdoin published a philosophical discourse, publicly addressed to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in Boston, November 8, 1780, when he was inducted into the office of president. This is prefixed to the first volume of the Memoirs of the Academy. In this work, he also published several other productions, which manifest no common taste and talents in astronomical inquiries. The following are the titles of them: Observations upon an Hypothesis for solving the Phenomena of Light, with Incidental Observations tending to show the heterogeneousness of Light, and of the Electric Fluid, by their union with each other; Observations on Light and the waste of Matter in the Sun and Fixed Stars, occasioned by the constant Efflux of Light from them; Observations tending to prove, by Phenomena and Scripture, the existence of an Orb, which surrounds the whole Material System, and which may be necessary to preserve it from the ruin, to which, without such a counterbalance, it seems liable, by that universal principle in matter, Gravitation. He supposes, that the blue expanse of the sky is a real concave body encompassing all visible nature, that the milky way and the lucid spots in the heavens are gaps in this orb, through which the light of exterior orbs reaches us, and that thus an intimation may be given of orbs on orbs and systems on systems innumerable, and inconceivably grand.*

Jam Adams

Samuel Adams, Governor of Massachusetts, and a most distinguished patriot in the American Revolution, was born in Boston, of a reputable family, September 27, 1722. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1740. When he commenced Master of Arts in 1743, he proposed the following question for discussion: Whether it be lawful to resist the supreme magistrate, if the commonwealth cannot otherwise be preserved? He maintained the affirmative, and thus early showed his attachment to the liberties of the people.

Early distinguished by talents as a writer, his first attempts were proofs of his filial piety. By his efforts, he preserved the estate of his father, which had been attached on account of an engagement in the land-bank bubble. He was known as a political writer during the administration of Shirley, to which he was opposed, as he thought the union of so much civil and military power in one man was dangerous. His ingenuity, wit, and profound argument are spoken of with the highest respect by those who were contemporary with him. At this early period, he laid the foundation of public confidence and esteem.

In 1765, he was elected a member of the General Assembly of Massachusetts, in the place of Oxenbridge Thacher, Esq., deceased. He was soon chosen clerk, and he gradually acquired influence in the legislature. This was an eventful time. But Mr. Adams possessed a courage which no dangers could shake. He was undismayed by the prospect which struck terror into the hearts of many. He was a member of the legislature nearly ten years, and he was the soul which animated it to the most important resolutions. No man did so much. He pressed his measures with ardor, yet he was prudent; he knew how to bend the passions of others to his purpose.

When the Charter was dissolved, he was chosen a member of the provincial convention. In 1774, he was elected a member of the general congress. In this station, in which he remained a number of years, he rendered the most important services to his country. His eloquence was adapted to the times in which he lived. The energy of his language corresponded with the firmness and vigor of his mind. heart glowed with the feelings of a patriot, and his eloquence was simple, majestic, and persuasive. He was one of the most efficient members of congress. He possessed keen penetration, unshaken fortitude, and permanent decision. Gordon speaks of him in 1774 as having for a long time whispered to his confidential friends, that this country must be independent. In the last act of state of the British government in Massachusetts, he was proscribed with John Hancock. when a general pardon was offered to all who had rebelled. This act was dated June 12, 1775, and it teaches Americans what they owe to the denounced patriot.

In1776, he united with Franklin, John Adams, Hancock, Jefferson, and a host of worthies, in declaring the United States no longer an appendage to a monarchy, but free and independent.

When the constitution of Massachusetts was adopted, he was chosen a member of the senate, of which body he was elected president. He was soon sent to the western countries to quiet a disturbance, which was rising, and he was successful in his mission. He was a member of the convention for examining the constitution of the United States. He made objections to several of its provisions, but his principal objection was to that article which rendered the several States amenable to the courts of the nation. He thought this reduced them to mere corporations; that the sovereignty of each would be dissolved; and that a consolidated government, supported by an army, would be the consequence. The constitution was afterwards altered in this point and in most other respects according to his wishes.

In 1789, he was chosen lieutenant-governor, and was continued in this office till 1794, when he was elected governor, as successor to Mr. Hancock. He was annually replaced in the chair of the first magistrate of Massachusetts till 1797, when his age and infirmities induced him to retire from public life. He died Oct. 2, 1803, in the eighty-second year of his age.

The leading traits in the character of Mr. Adams were an unconquerable love of liberty, integrity, firmness, and decision. Some acts of his administration as chief magistrate were censured, though all allowed his motives were pure. A division in political sentiments at that time existed, and it has since increased. When he differed from the majority, he acted with great independence. At the close of the war, he opposed peace with Great Britain, unless the Northern States retained their full privileges in the fisheries. In 1787, he advised the execution of the condign punishment, to which the leaders of the rebellion in 1786 had been sentenced. He was opposed to the treaty with Great Britain, made by Mr. Jay in 1794, and he put his election to hazard by avowing his dislike of it. He was censured for his conduct; but he undoubtedly had a right to express his opinion, and his situation made it his duty to point out to the people what he conceived to be causes of danger.

Mr. Adams was a man of incorruptible integrity. Attempts were probably made by the British to bribe him. Gov. Hutchinson, in answer to the inquiry, why Mr. Adams was not taken off from his opposition by an office, writes to a friend in England, "Such is the obstinacy and inflexible disposition of the man, that he never can be conciliated by any office or gift whatever."

He was poor. While occupied abroad in the most important and responsible public duties, the partner of his cares supported the family at home by her industry. Though his resources were very small, yet such was the economy and dignity of his house, that those who casually visited him, found nothing mean or unbecoming his station. His country, to whose interests he had devoted his life, permitted him to remain poor; but there were not wanting a few friends, who showed him their regard. In this honorable poverty he continued to a very late period of his life; and, had not a decent competency fallen into his hands by the very afflicting event of the death of an only son, he must have depended for subsistence upon the kindness of his friends or the charity of the public.

To a majestic countenance and dignified manners there was added a suavity of temper, which conciliated the affection of his acquaintance. Some, who disapproved of his political conduct, loved and revered him as a neighbor and friend. He could readily relax from severer cares and studies to enjoy the pleasures of private conversation. Though somewhat reserved among strangers, yet with his friends he was cheerful and companionable, a lover of chaste wit, and remarkably fond of anecdote. He faithfully discharged the duties arising from the relations of social life. His house was the seat of domestic peace, regularity, and method.

Mr. Adams was a Christian. His mind was early imbued with piety, as well as cultivated by science. He early approached the table of the Lord Jesus, and the purity of his life witnessed the sincerity of his profession. On the Christian Sabbath, he constantly went to the temple, and the morning and evening devotions in his family proved that his religion attended him in his seasons of retirement from the world. The last production of his pen was in favor of Christian truth. He died in the faith of the gospel.

He was a sage and a patriot. The independence of the United States of America is perhaps to be attributed as much to his exertions as to the exertions of any one man. Though he was called to struggle with adversity, he was never discouraged. He was consistent and firm under the cruel neglect of a friend and the malignant rancor of an enemy; comforting himself in the darkest seasons with reflections upon the wisdom and goodness of God.

His writings exist only in the perishable columns of a newspaper or pamphlet. In his more advanced years, in the year 1790, a few letters passed between him and Mr. John Adams, then Vice-president of the United States, in which the principles of government are discussed, and there seems to have been some difference of sentiment between those eminent patriots and statesmen, who had toiled together through the Revolution. This correspondence was published in 1800. An oration, which Mr. Adams delivered at the statehouse in Philadelphia, Aug. 1, 1776, was published. The object is to support American independence, the declaration of which by congress had been made a short time before. He opposes kingly government and hereditary succession with warmth and energy. Not long before his death he addressed a letter to Paine, expressing his disapprobation of that unbeliever's attempts to injure the cause of Christianity.

INCREASE SUMNER, Governor of Massachusetts, was born in Roxbury, Nov. 27, 1746, and was graduated at Harvard college in 1767. After entering upon the profession of the law, he was chosen a representative of his native town in the legislature, and then a senator. In 1782, Governor Hancock placed him on the bench of the Supreme As a judge, he was dispassionate, impartial, and discerning. In 1797, he was chosen governor as successor of Samuel Adams, and he was reëlected in the succeeding years till his death, June 7, 1799, in the fifty-third year of his age. He possessed a strong and wellbalanced mind. His judgment was correct, and though he maintained an unusual degree of self-command, yet his coolness of temper was to be ascribed rather to the influence of religious discipline, than to constitutional temperament. He was mild, candid, and moderate, being remarkably free from every appearance of party spirit. In the intercourse of domestic and private life, he was affectionate and faithful. Soon after he commenced the practice of the law, he made a public profession of his belief in Christianity, and his life was exemplary. His social hours were not passed in idle anecdote. Few persons were more in the habit of introducing in their familiar conversation reflections of a moral and religious nature. In his last sickness, he observed to a friend, "A dying bed is not the place for one to begin to attend to his religion, and prepare for another world. But I have not been unmindful of these concerns. I have thought much of them. The more I have reflected on the subject of religion, the more has my mind been settled and confirmed in its reality and importance. I am sensible that many infirmities and errors have attended me; but I trust I have the testimony of my conscience to the general rectitude of my views and conduct in life."*

CALEB STRONG, LL. D., Governor of Massachusetts, the son of Caleb Strong, descended from John Strong, who arrived from Taunton, England, in May 1630, and settled at Dorchester, and thence removed to Windsor, and in 1659 to Northampton. He was born at Northampton in Jan. 1745, and graduated at Harvard college in 1764. He studied law with Mr. Hawley, but from ill health did not commence the practice till 1772. In 1776, he was a member of the legislature with Mr. Hawley, and continued in that body as an active friend of his country till 1780, when he was chosen a councillor. In 1789, he assisted in forming the constitution of Massachusetts, and in 1787, that of the United States. Under the new national government, he was eight years a senator, from 1789 to 1797. He was governor from 1800 to 1807, when Mr. Sullivan was elected; and was again chosen governor during the difficult period of the war, from 1812 to 1815. He died suddenly Nov. 7, 1819, aged seventy-four. His wife, the daughter of John Hooker, the minister of Northampton, died in 1817. He wrote the address of the government to the insurgents, in 1786. His speeches, from 1807 to 1808, were published, 8vo. 1808.

James Sullivan, LL. D., Governor of Massachusetts, the brother of Major-general Sullivan, was born at Berwick, in the District of Maine, April 22, 1744. His father, a man of liberal education, came to this country about the year 1723. He took the sole charge of the education of his son James, and lived to see him distinguished in the world, dying in July, 1795, in the one hundred and sixth year of his Governor Sullivan was destined for the military life, but the fracture of a limb, in his early years, induced him to bend the vigorous powers of his mind to the investigation of the law. After pursuing the study of this science under his brother, Gen. Sullivan, he soon rose to celebrity, and was appointed king's attorney for the county in which he resided. On the approach of the Revolution, he took an early and active part on the side of his country. Being a member of the provincial congress of Massachusetts in 1775, he was intrusted, together with two other gentlemen, with a difficult commission to Ticonderoga, which was executed in a very satisfactory manner. Early in the following year, he was appointed a judge of the superior court. He was a member of the convention, which framed the constitution of the State in 1779 and 1780. In Feb. 1782, he resigned his office of judge, and returned to the practice of the bar. He was appointed a delegate to congress in 1783; and in the ensuing year was one of the commissioners in the settlement of the controversy between Massachusetts and New York, respecting their claims to the western lands. He was repeatedly chosen to represent the town of Boston in the legislature, in 1787 was a member of the executive council and judge of probate for Suffolk, and in 1790 was appointed attorney-general, in which office he continued till June 1807, when he was called to the chief magistracy of the Commonwealth, as successor of Gov. Strong. He was appointed, by president Washington, agent under the fifth article of the British treaty for settling the boundaries between the United States and the British provinces. Of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences he was one of the members from its first institution; a principal founder and many years president of the Massachusetts Historical Society; president of the Massachusetts Congregational Charitable Society; and a member of the Humane Society. He was the projector of the Middlesex canal, to which object he devoted a great portion of time and labor. Soon after his second election to the office of governor, his health became enfeebled, and he suffered a long and distressing confinement, which terminated in his death, Dec. 10,1808, in the sixty-fifth year of his age.

The various public offices, which Governor Sullivan sustained during a period of forty years, were conferred upon him by the free and unbiassed suffrages of his countrymen. As he was not assisted in his progress to distinction by the advantages of opulence or family connections, the stations which he held were a proof of his talents, of his indefatigable industry, and of the confidence which was reposed in his integrity. If in the course of a long political career, in times of turbulence and party bitterness, he did not always escape the common tribute of reproach which accompanies all illustrious talents, his strongest opponents could never deny that his execution of every public trust was distinguished by that peculiar quality which was most appropriate to its nature. As a judge, he was universally acknowledged to have displayed the most perfect impartiality. As the public prosecutor of the State, he tempered the sternness of official severity with the rarer tenderness of humanity. His style of eloquence was original, and adapted, with judicious discrimination, to the occasion, the subject, and to the tribunal before which it was called Deeply versed in the science of the law, and equally well acquainted with the sources of persuasion in the human mind, he was alike qualified for the investigation of the most intricate and complicated questions of legal discussion, and for the development of the tissues of fact before juries. As the chief magistrate of the State, he considered himself as the delegated officer not of a political sect, but of the whole people, and endeavored to mitigate the violence of par-In all the relations of domestic and social life, his conduct was exemplary. He early made a profession of Christianity, and his belief of its truth was never shaken. The following extract from a private letter, written while subject to an overwhelming affliction, will show his reverence for the providence of the Most High: "I know that God has formed, that he guides and governs, this vast universe, holding innumerable worlds in their orbs. I know that not one atom, from the worm that creeps in the dust up to the highest created intelligence, can be out of his view, or committed for one moment to fortuitous events. Why this earth is the repository of pain and sorrow, I know not. But I know it is so, and that Jesus Christ is the great Physician, who mingles the draught, prescribes the regimen, and pours the balm of comfort on the wounded soul. Blessed Redeemer! When he said, The cup my heavenly Father giveth me, shall I not drink it? Shall I, a sinner, say that I will refuse what he offers me? Though he slay me, I will trust in him. I will go in and out as when the candle of the Lord shined on my tabernacle. I will attempt to do the duties of a citizen, of a husband, a Christian, trying to say from my heart, Father not my will, but thine be done." his frame was evidently shattered, and he had reason to think that God was calling him to his great account, the faith of Jesus was ever gaining a new ascendency in his views, and his thoughts expatiated with singular clearness on the scenes which awaited him, on the mercy of his God, his own unworthiness, and the worth of the Redeemer. private prayers and his domestic devotions, expressing at times both the joy and the anguish of his feelings, proved that his passions were not all given to the world. He closed his laborious life with the unshaken assurance of renewing his existence in another and better state.

Amidst the great and constant pressure of business which occupied him, Governor Sullivan still found time for the pursuits of literature and science. His mind has been compared to a native forest, which had never been entirely cleared or carefully divided; where the light gained admission at every opening, and not through any regular avenue; where the growth was rapid and thick, and though occasionally irregular, yet always strong; where new seeds were successionally sively shooting up, and the materials never seemed likely to be exhausted. He was ever ready to contribute the effort of his powerful and original mind to the purpose of public utility. He published Observations on the Government of the United States of America, 1791; Dissertation on the Stability of the States; the Path to Riches, or Dissertation on Banks, 1792; History of the District of Maine, 8vo., 1795; History of Land Titles in Massachusetts, 8vo., 1801; Dissertation on the Constitutional Liberty of the Press in the United States, 1801; History of the Penobscot Indians in the Historical Collections. Besides these works, his fugitive pieces and occasional communications to the public prints were very numerous.*

CHRISTOPHER GORE, Governor of Massachusetts, was born in Boston, in 1758, and was the son of a respectable mechanic, who, at the beginning of the Revolution, as he adhered to the royal government, went to Halifax, but afterwards returned to Boston. He was graduated in 1776, and after studying law with Judge Lowell, engaged in lucrative practice. In 1789, he was appointed first United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, in the execution of which office he met with difficulties, but he resolutely pursued the course of duty. In 1796, he was appointed colleague with William Pinkney, a Commissioner, under the Fourth Article of Jay's Treaty, to settle our claims for spoliations. By his efforts, when in England, he recovered sums to a vast amount for our citizens; his argument on that class of captures, which were made under the rule of 1756, was elaborate and powerful. As his commission lasted nearly eight years, he remained abroad till 1804. In the preceding year, he had been left by his intimate friend, Rufus King, Minister to England, chargé d'affaires. After his return, he was chosen, 1809, Governor of Massachusetts, as successor of Sullivan; but the next year the people chose Mr. Gerry in his place. In 1814, he was appointed Senator to Congress, in which capacity he served about three years, and then withdrew into final retirement. His residence was a beautiful seat, about nine miles from Boston, at Waltham, whence he was accustomed frequently to walk into town, an example but little followed by the present generation. An excruciating disorder embittered his last years. He died March 1, 1827, aged 68. His friend, Mr. King, died the next month.

American Academy, and the Historical Society, of which he was a member; and he made Harvard College, of which he had been a fellow or trustee, his residuary legatee. With the literature of the day he had kept himself familiarly acquainted, and he was an excellent classical scholar. His mind was acute and discriminating; his morals pure; his manners dignified and elegant. He published a Masonic Oration, 1783.—Amer. Ann. Reg. 1826, 7, p. 389-341.

TOTT GOODE IN DIRECT

^{*} There is no evidence of there being a Lieutenant-Governor from January, 1705-6 to Oct. 1711. Mr. Povey made his last appearance at the meetings of the Council on the 28th of January, 1705-6; and Mr. Tailer took the oath of Lieutenant-Governor on the 4th of October, 1711. Between these dates, no one appeared at the Council Board as Lieutenant-Governor.

 $[\]dagger$ The Lieutenant-Governors, whose names are printed in italics, were also acting Governors during vacancies in the office of Governor.

TRIAL JUSTICES.

Since July, 1850, Trial Justices have been appointed by the Governor, in each County, to hold office for seven years, exercise the jurisdiction formerly held by Justices of the Peace; to issue writs, in all civil cases under $20, and warrants in all criminal cases; and the power of the Justices of the Peace is limited to that extent, except that, in criminal cases, they may issue warrants returnable before a Trial Justice. This act does not affect the Police Courts, nor the "Justices' Court" of Boston, which the Justices of the Police Court hold on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

TRIAL JUSTICES.

Since July, 1850, Trial Justices have been appointed by the Governor, in each County, to hold office for seven years, exercise the jurisdiction formerly held by Justices of the Peace; to issue writs, in all civil cases under $20, and warrants in all criminal cases; and the power of the Justices of the Peace is limited to that extent, except that, in criminal cases, they may issue warrants returnable before a Trial Justice. This act does not affect the Police Courts, nor the "Justices' Court" of Boston, which the Justices of the Police Court hold on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

MASSACHUSETTS MILITIA.

[Corrected at the office of the Adjutant-General, to December, 1850.]

The Militia of Massachusetts is divided into two classes, the active and enrolled; the latter consists of all "able-bodied white male citizens, of the age of eighteen years, and under that of forty-five, excepting persons enlisted into volunteer companies, and persons exempted by law, or incapacitated by physical and other causes." [See sec. 5, Militia Law.] The whole number enrolled in 1850, as appears from the Returns of Assessors of cities and towns, (whose duty it is to make such returns.) is 110,050.

The Active Militia consists of Volunteers, who are paid a per diem allowance when on duty, amounting, in the whole, to $6.50 per annum, each man. They consist, by the Brigade Returns of 1850, of 4591 men. These are organized into three Divisions, and six Brigades, embracing two Divisionary Corps of Cadets, two Troops of Cavalry, four Regiments, and four Companies "annexed" of Artillery, and nine Regiments of Light Infantry.

Requisites for Admission.

It is very important that the candidates should be thoroughly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, instructors are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the books read in College, but to direct the attention of their pupils to other authors.

Time and Conditions of Examination.

The examination for the Freshman Class occupies two days, and takes place in University Hall, on the Monday and Tuesday of the Commencement week, (the 14th and 15th of July,) beginning precisely at 6 o'clock, A. M., on Monday morning. Attendance on both days is required.

No person will be examined for admission to the College at any other time than the commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructors are requested not to offer candidates for examination, unless it be intended that, if admitted, they shall immediately join their class.

Students may be admitted to advanced standing, at any part of the College course previous to the second term of the Senior year. In order to such admission to advanced standing, the candidate must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the following studies:—

In the studies required for admission to the Freshman Class.
 In all the required studies pursued by the class for which he is offered.

3. And in the elective studies of two out of the three departments of Greek, Latin, and Mathematics, pursued by that class for which he is offered. He must also pay to the Steward at the rate of $45 per annum, according to the standing to which he is admitted. Any student, however, who has a regular dismission from another college, may be admitted to the same standing, if, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration. This charge for advanced standing is also remitted to indigent students.

Every candidate, before examination, must produce proper testimonials of a good moral character, and, after being accepted on examination, must give a bond, with sureties, of which one at least mustabelong to this Commonwealth, to the satisfaction of the Steward of the College, in the sum of four hundred dollars, to pay all charges accruing under the laws and customs of the University. A certificate that such bond has been given must be exhibited to the President, before any person can be admitted to the privileges of the institution.

Academical Year.

The Academical Year is divided into two Terms and two Vacations. The First Term begins six weeks after Commencement, on Thursday morning, (August 29th, 1850,) and continues twenty weeks.

The First Vacation begins at the end of the First Term, Wednesday evening, (January 15th, 1851,) and continues six weeks, till Thursday morning, the 27th of February.

The Second Term begins at the end of the First Vacation, Thursday morning, (February 27th, 1851,) and continues twenty weeks.

The Second Vacation begins at the end of the Second Term, Wednesday evening, (July 16th, 1851,) and continues six weeks, till Thursday morning, the 28th of August.

There is a Recess of four days in each Term, during which the students are allowed to be absent from the College.

The First Recess begins on the Tuesday evening before Thanksgiving, and ends on the Saturday evening following that day.

The Second Recess begins on Tuesday evening, (May 27th, 1851,) and ends on the Saturday evening following.

The Public Exhibitions take place on the third Tuesday (15th) of October, and on the first Tuesday (6th) of May.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday (14th) of May. The Commencement is on the third Wednesday (16th) of July, 1851. The Senior Class Day is on Friday, June 20th.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of an undergraduate for a year, included in the University bills, are as follows:—

Instruction, Library, Lecture-rooms, $75 00
Rent, and care of Room,
Board for forty weeks, at $2,50 per week,100 00
Text-books (average),
Special Repairs, &c,from 1 to 2 00

$204 00

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the students' rooms, by the lessee of the College wharf, at the market price, usually at $6,50 per cord for wood, and $7 per ton for coal, The rent of rooms in private houses, from $30 to $60 per annum, Board in the town, from $2,50 to $3,50. The students find their own beds and furniture.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty of Theology.—Jared Sparks, LL. D., President. Convers Francis, D. D., George R. Noyes, D. D.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the first day of the Term. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology as long as the class into which they propose to be received, and must pass an examination in the studies which that class has pursued.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity Hall. They give bonds in the sum of $100 for the payment of term-bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent, and care of room and furniture, and use of class-books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the city at various prices, from $2.00 to $3.50 a week. Each student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's or Tischendorf's edition. A copy of all other class-books is furnished on loan. Indigent students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations, which amount to twelve weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Instructor in the German language, and to attend, gratis, all public lectures of the University given to undergraduates.

It is considered of great importance, that those who enter the School should be present at the beginning of the First Term.

LAW SCHOOL.

Faculty.—Jared Sparks, LL. D., President. Joel Parker, LL. D., Theophilus Parsons, LL. D.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen intended for the Bar, in any of the United States, except in matters of mere local law and practice; and also, a systematic course of studies in Commercial Jurisprudence, for those who intend to devote themselves exclusively to mercantile pursuits.

No examination, and no particular course of previous study, are necessary for admission; but the student, if not a graduate of some college, must be at least nineteen years of age, and produce testimonials of good moral character.

Students may enter the School in any stage of their professional studies, or mercantile pursuits. But they are advised, with a view to their own advantage and improvement, to enter at the beginning of those studies, rather than at a later period.

The fees are $50 a term, and $25 for half or any lesser fraction of a term; for which sum, without any additional charge, students have the use of the Lecture-rooms, the Law and College Libraries, and the Text-books; and they are admitted free to all the courses of Public Lectures delivered to the undergraduates in the University. The other expenses for a term are as follows:—

Upon the payment of a fee of five dollars for each course, the Law Students may also attend the Lectures delivered in the Lawrence Scientific School, on Zoölogy, and Geology, by Prof. Agassiz; on Comparative Anatomy and Physiology, by Professor Wyman; and on Botany, by Professor Gray; and on payment of a fee of $10, the Lectures on Chemistry, by Professor Horsford. They may also study any one of the Foreign Languages, taught in the University, on payment of a fee of $10 per annum.

$116 to 198

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The Medical Lectures form a department of instruction in Harvard University. They begin annually, at the new Medical College, in North Grove Street, Boston, on the first Wednesday in November, at 12 o'clock, noon.

The following are the courses of Lectures delivered in this College: —

The fee for the whole course is $80.*

The fee for graduation is $20; which is deposited with the Dean, when application is made to him for examination.

The fee for matriculation is $3. This fee is appropriated to the increase of the Library, and is to be paid to the Dean, by all persons who propose to attend any of the courses.

The Hospital and Library are gratuitous. Tickets for the Dissecting Room, $5. No exertions are spared to obtain a supply of subjects, according to the existing laws, and to furnish to the class the means of pursuing the important branch of practical anatomy. Board is as low as in any of our cities.

The CLINICAL LECTURES in Medicine and Surgery are given to the class on cases in the Massachusetts General Hospital, three times a week. Surgical operations at the Hospital are frequent. An abundant opportunity is thus furnished to students for most important practical observation and study.

LAWRENCE SCIENTIFIC SCHOOL.

Faculty.—Jared Sparks, LL. D., President. William Cranch Bond, A. M.; Louis Agassiz, LL. D.; Benjamin Peirce, LL. D.; Asa Gray, M. D.; Joseph Lovering, A. M.; Jeffries Wyman, M. D.; Henry L. Eustis, A. M.; Eben. N. Horsford, A. M.; George Phillips Bond, A. B.

The following courses of instruction will be given in the Scientific School at Cambridge, during the current Academic Year, commencing on Thursday, August 29th, 1850.

The instruction will be given in Lectures, Recitations, or both, according to the nature of the study, and at the discretion of the Instructor.

Candidates for admission must have attained the age of eighteen years; must have received a good common English education, and must be qualified to pursue to advantage the courses of study to which they propose to give their attention. They must furnish satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and give bonds in the sum of $200, with a surety resident in Massachusetts, for the payment of all dues to the School.

Members of the School, on leaving it, will receive a certificate of the number of Terms for which they have been attached to it, and of the studies pursued by them.

The number and choice of studies to be pursued are optional on the part of the students, who will, however, be counselled on these points by the Professors. Attendance on the Lectures and Recitations is voluntary. For this, as well as other reasons, the government of the University wish wholly to discourage the resort of young men to the Scientific School, who do not, in the opinion of their parents and guardians, possess that stability of character and firmness of purpose, which will insure a faithful performance of duty, without academic discipline.

I. Chemistry.

Professor E. N. Horsford, Director of the Laboratory; Lieut. Augus. Dalson, 1st Assistant; David A. Wells, A. M., 2d Assistant. Special students to the course of experimental instruction in Chemistry, give their attendance in the Laboratory from 9 o'clock, A.M., till 5 o'clock, P. M.

The course will be modified to meet the wants of those designing to pursue practical analysis, manufacturing, metallurgy, medicine, engineering, agriculture, or instruction, and proportioned in duration to the objects and previous acquisitions of the student.

A course of Lectures upon the Practical Application of Chemistry to the Arts, in the First Term, and upon Theoretical and Experimental Chemistry, in the Second Term, will be given by Professor Horsford.

Excursions will be made in Term-time to manufacturing establishments in the neighborhood, where the practical application of Chemistry to the arts may be witnessed.

II. Zoölogy and Geology.

The instruction in this Department consists, alternately, of a course of Lectures by Professor Agassiz, on Zoölogy, embracing the fundamental principles of the classification of animals, as founded upon structure and embryonic development, and illustrating their natural affinities, habits, geographical distribution, and the relations which exist between the living and extinct races; and of a course on Geology, both theoretical and practical. The course on Geology will be delivered during the next Academical Year.

Besides the instructions of the Lecture-room, Professor Agassiz will afford to the students access to his Laboratory during certain hours, in order to show them how to observe isolated facts, how to determine living and fossil animals, how to identify rocks of different formations, and how to conduct a regular geological survey.

For those who intend to make a farther study in these sciences, excursions in the neighborhood will be made in Term-time, and longer excursions in Vacation, to those parts of the country, near or remote, which offer the most instructive field of observation.

III. Engineering.

Professor Eustis will receive special students to the course of instruction in Engineering, who will give their attendance at the School from 9 o'clock, A. M., to 5 o'clock, P. M.

The course will include instruction in-

Descriptive Geometry, with its application to masonry and stonecutting, the construction of arches, &c.

The theory of shades, shadows, and perspective, illustrated by a course of drawing, and mapping in all its branches.

Surveying, with the use of the instruments, and actual operations in the field.

The nature and properties of building materials, and their applications to the construction of railroads, canals, bridges, &c.

For those who are not sufficiently prepared, the course will commence with a review of such parts of practical mathematics as may be required.

Should a sufficient number of students require it, the following special courses will be given:—

Botany.

Professor Gray will give, during the Second Term, at the Botanic Garden, a course of twenty-four Lectures, or Lessons, on Structural Botany, and Vegetable Anatomy, with microscopical demonstrations.

Comparative Anatomy and Physiology.

Dr. Wyman will give, during the Second Term, a course of twenty-four Lectures on Comparative Anatomy and Physiology. In this course, the various organs will be described, as they exist in the animal series, in connection with the uses to which they are subservient. Opportunities will be afforded for studying the various tissues with the aid of the microscope; and the various physical phenomena manifested by living beings will be illustrated by experiment.

Astronomy.

Practical Astronomy and the use of Astronomical Instruments will be taught at the Observatory, by William C. Bond, Esq., Director, and Mr. George P. Bond, Assistant Observer.

The Observatory is supplied with the apparatus for simultaneous magnetic observations, which will be intrusted to a class of students desirous of taking charge of it.

Mathematics.

Instruction will be given in the Higher Mathematics, and especially in Analytical and Celestial Mechanics, by Professor Peirce.

Private instruction in the various branches of Mathematics will be given to those desirous of receiving it, by competent instructors residing at the University.

The following courses of Lectures delivered to undergraduates will be open to members of the Scientific School, viz:-

A course on Mineralogy.

A course on Systematic Botany according to the Natural System, by Professor Gray.

On Physics, by Professor Lovering. The subject for the first term of 1850-1, is Electricity and Magnetism.

A course on Comparative Anatomy and Physiology, by Professor Jeffries Wyman.

The formation of a Museum of Natural History, on an extensive scale, has been commenced, under the superintendence of the Professors in the several departments.

The Mineralogical Cabinet of the University, the Rumford and Philosophical Apparatus, the Anatomical Museum, the Botanic Garden, the Observatory, and the Public Library, will be accessible to the students of the Scientific School.

Fees.

In the department of Chemistry, the fees for Special STUDENTS will be, for instruction six days in the week, per term of twenty weeks.....$50.00

For laboratory apparatus and supplies..... 25.00 For three days per week, two-thirds, and for one day, one-third of the above sums.

The Special Students in Chemistry will also supply themselves, at their own expense, with such articles of apparatus as are consumed in using; such as flasks, corks, tubing, lamps, crucibles, &c., together with alcohol and platinum, gold and silver solutions.

In the Department of Engineering, for instruction six days in the week, fifty dollars per term.

For three days in the week, two-thirds, and for one day, one-third of the above sum.

The special students in Engineering will supply themselves with conveniences for drawing, necessary text-books, &c.

In the Department of Zoölogy and Geology, fifty dollars per

In the Department of Comparative Anatomy and Physiology, twentyfive dollars per term.

In any of the other Departments, the fees for special instruction may be agreed upon with the instructor, but shall not exceed fifty dollars per term.

The Lectures delivered in the Scientific School, may be attended by members of the School, and by members of any of the Professional Schools, and by persons not otherwise connected with the University, on payment of a fee of ten dollars per course, for the Lectures, on Chemistry, and five dollars per course for any other Lectures; and they may attend without charge any of the Lectures delivered to undergraduates by the Professors in the Academical Department. Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in Geography, Vulgar Arithmetic, and Algebra through Simple Equations; in English, Latin, and Greek Grammar; including Procedy in Virgil and Cicero's Select Orations; in Cassar's Commentaries, or Sallust; and in the Greek Testament, and in Jacob's, Colton's, or Pelton's Greek Reader.

For admission to an advanced standing, an examination must also be sustained in the studies to which the class have attended since admission.

The stated time for admission is on the day preceding Commencement; but persons may be examined in any other part of the College Terms.

Testimonials of good moral character are in all cases required, and a probation of six months before students are matriculated, during which time they are subject to all the laws and regulations of College.

Many who apply for admission are imperfectly prepared in the English Studies, particularly in Arithmetic and Geography. As these studies are not pursued in College, it is necessary that the preparation in them should be full and thorough.

Vacations.

The first, from Commencement, four weeks.

The second, from the second Wednesday in December, six weeks. The third, from the first Wednesday in May, three weeks.

Commencement is on the third Wednesday in August.

Students are required to be present the whole of the term-time, unless excused by the President. The loss of even a few days, especially at the beginning of a term, is exceedingly undesirable.

The amount of incidental expenses will depend very much on the habits of the student, and the liberality of his allowance. It is earnestly recommended to parents and guardians, not to authorize their sons and wards to obtain credits here, and not to pay debts contracted without their authority.

No back tuition is required; but those who enter on an advanced standing, unless they come from another college, pay the following sums, as entrance-money, namely, Sophomores, $10; Juniors, $15; Seniors, $20.

The income of the Charity Funds, amounting to about eight hundred dollars per annum, is distributed among indigent young men of merit, to aid them in the payment of their bills. This pays about two-thirds of the tuition of those who apply. No application for this aid will be considered, while the applicant is in arrears for the other charges besides tuition, in more than one term-bill.

"The advanced studies are equally proportioned, according to the following distribution, into three departments, namely: 1. The mathematical, including algebra through quadratic equations; geometry, to an amount equal to three books in Euclid; book-keeping, and surveying. 2. The philosophical, including natural philosophy, astronomy, moral and intellectual philosophy, natural history, particularly that of our own country, and so much of chemistry as relates to the atmosphere, the waters, and the growth of plants and animals.

3. The literary, including the critical study of the English language, both in its structure and history, with an outline of the history of English literature; the history of the United States, with such a survey of general history as may be a suitable preparative for it; and historical geography, ancient and mediæval, so far as is necessary to understand general history, from the earliest time to the period of the French Revolution.

the philosophy of teaching and discipline, as drawn from the nature and condition of the juvenile mind; the history of the progress of the art, and the application of it to our system of education; and as much exercise in teaching under constant supervision, towards the close of the course, as the circumstances and interests of the Model Schools may allow."

Members of the higher classes in this Institution give teaching exercises before the whole school, several each week. Members of the senior class spend three weeks, each, in the public grammar school of District No. 7, which is connected with the Institution as its Model department.

Pupils who have had experience in teaching, and are otherwise qualified for it, will be allowed to enter existing classes.

Pupils who may desire to study the Latin and French languages, and to prepare themselves to instruct in those branches usually taught in High Schools, can have an opportunity to do so, by giving a pledge to remain in the school for a term of three years,—provided the number is sufficient to warrant the forming of a class.

Tuition.

For those who reside in the State, and purpose to teach in the public schools of the State, tuition is free; for all others, it is $10 per term, payable at entrance. At the beginning of each term, each pupil pays to the Principal, $1,50, to meet incidental expenses.

Board.

Board may be had in good families for from $2 to $2,50 per week, including washing and fuel. Some of the pupils take rooms and board themselves at a lower rate.

The whole annual expense is about $100.

Terms and Vacations.

There are three terms in the year. The winter term commences on the 2d Wednesday in December, and continues 15 weeks. The summer term commences on the 2d Wednesday in April, and continues 15 weeks. The autumn term commences on the 1st Wednesday in September, and continues 12 weeks. Between the summer and autumn terms there is a vacation of 6 weeks; between the other terms, a vacation of 2 weeks. No session is held on the week of the anniversaries in Boston.

Pupils who reside in the vicinity, and whose friends request it, have leave to go home on Saturday morning, and stay until Monday morning, provided this can be done without interference with school duties.

Pupils are not permitted to board at such a distance from the Institution, as to render it impracticable for them to be present during all regular exercises.

EBEN S. STEARNS, Principal.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT BRIDGEWATER.

This School was commenced September 9, 1840. It is designed for teachers of both sexes. Those desirous of entering the School must be present on the first day of the term, to undergo an examination in reading, writing, spelling, grammar, and arithmetic. They must present a certificate of good moral character, and must declare an intention of remaining at the School for not less than three successive terms. No one will be received after the commencement of a term, nor, except in special cases, if he or she intends to leave during the term. Male pupils must be at least 17, and females at less: 16 years of age. The terms commenced last year, (1850,) on the 3d Wednesday of March; 1st Wednesday of August; 1st Wednesday after Thanksgiving. Each term, fourteen weeks. Tuition is free to all who intend to become teachers (of Public Schools) in this State. Board, $2,00 per week.

N. TILLINGHAST, Principal.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT WESTFIELD.

This is one of the three Normal Schools, established by the State of Massachusetts, for the education of School Teachers, and is under the supervision of the Board of Education. It first went into operation at Barre, Sept. 4, 1839, under the care of Prof. Samuel P. Newman, as Principal. It continued at Barre till November 1841, when, upon the death of its Principal, it was suspended till Sept. 4, 1844. The school then recommenced at Westfield, with Rev. Emerson Davis, D.D., for its Principal, and remained under his care till September 3, 1846, when a new and beautiful Normal School edifice was dedicated. Since then it has been under the charge of its present teachers. Since its first establishment, about 450 (males and females) have been members of the school, some for a single term, and others for two or more terms. About 130 towns in 11 counties have been represented in the school. The object of the school is to qualify Teachers more thoroughly and more specifically for their work, than, it is believed, the circumstances of other institutions will allow them to do. Lectures are given, almost daily, upon modes of Teaching, School Discipline, Obligations of Teachers, School Arrangements, &c. &c. It is intended that all the influences of the school shall be precisely those which are best adapted to qualify Teachers for their responsible station, and to give them more elevated views of the dignity and importance of their work. As may be seen, by reference to the course of study pursued, we aim to make Teachers more thoroughly acquainted with those exercises, which will chiefly claim their attention in the Common School; and, after this has been in a good degree accomplished, they can advance to higher branches. The exercises of the school are exclusively English.

Conditions of Entrance.

Applicants for admission to the school, if males, must be at least 17 years of age, and 16 at least, if females. None can be admitted for less than two full terms, which must be successive terms, except in case of those, who wish to be absent, in the mean time, for the purpose of teaching. There must be an explicit declaration that the applicant intends to become a Teacher. A certificate of good moral and intellectual character must be presented to the Principal. All are required to sustain an examination, satisfactory to the Principal, in reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, geography, and grammar, previous to entering the school. Candidates must be present the first week of the session, unless their absence is beyond their control. Those qualified as above required, if they belong to the State, and intend to teach in the State, are admitted free of tuition. Teachers from other States, who join the school, and those who belong to the State, but design to teach elsewhere, will be charged $6,00 a term, tuition, including the use of books. It is required that applicants be present on the first day of the terms, and none are allowed to leave before the close of the term, except for extraordinary reasons.

Terms.

The school year is divided into three equal terms, of 14 weeks each, commencing as follows:—

The Spring and Summer Term, the 1st Wednesday in April.

The Fall Term, the 3d Wednesday in August.

The Winter Term, the 1st Wednesday in December.

Vacations.

The Fall Vacation continues two weeks, commencing with Thanksgiving week; the Spring Vacation continues three weeks; and the Summer Vacation, five weeks.

Board.

Board can be obtained in private families, for about $1,75 to $2 per week, the greater part of the year. In the winter, something additional is charged for fuel and lights. [Board includes washing and rooms.]

The American Antiquarian Society, established for the purpose of collecting and preserving the materials of history, more especially American History, was incorporated by the legislature of Massachusetts, in 1812.

Isaiah Thomas, the distinguished Printer and Publisher, and author of "The History of Printing in America," was the first President, and has been the greatest benefactor of this Institution. A brick edifice for the Library and Cabinet, erected at his expense, was completed in 1820. His private collection of books, which was a considerable one, became the basis of the Library. Extensive additions were made to the building after his death, from resources provided by his will; and the principal portion of the funds of the Society, now amounting to more than $27,000, resulted from his bequests.

The Library of the Society now exceeds 16,000 volumes. Its Cabinet contains many articles of curiosity and interest; and its manuscripts, coins, &c., are of considerable value. Two volumes of Transactions, and a Catalogue of the Library, have been published; and a third volume of Transactions is in preparation for the pres.

There are two meetings of the Society in the year; one at Worcester, on the 23d day of October, the day on which Columbus discovered America; the other in Boston, on the last Wednesday of May. The Council of the Society meet, on the last Wednesday of each month, at Antiquarian Hall, in Worcester.

Terms,

The fifth term of Lectures on Midwifery was commenced November 6, 1850, and will continue twelve weeks. Tuition, $25, payable in advance. Address or apply to the Secretary of the Society, Samuel Gregory, 17 Cornhill.

The establishment of the Ministry at Large, in Boston, dates back to Nov. 5th, 1826, when Rev. Dr. Joseph Tuckerman entered on the duties of what he called "the mission to the poor" in that city; though previous to that time the moral claims of the poor were not entirely neglected, but some provision of missionary service had been made for them by a society, for their moral and religious instruction. The Ministry at Large, in the spirit of Dr. Tuckerman, is adopted in the following places in the United States.

The donations and legacies during the year to July 31, 1850, have amounted to $251,862 28. The expenditures during the year have been $254,329 35.

The Board has twenty-four missions under its care, embracing one hundred and six stations, and twenty-eight out-stations. In these missions, are one hundred and fifty-seven ordained missionaries, and two licensed preachers. Nine of the ordained missionaries have also been educated in the healing art, and there are seven physicians who are not preachers. Of teachers, printers, etc., there are twenty-five; and of female assistant missionaries, two hundred and four. The whole number of the laborers, male and female, sent from this country and now living, is three bundred and ninety-five. The number is only thirty more, than it was ten years ago. The number sent out from the beginning, is nine hundred and sixty. Six native pastors, and twenty-two other native preachers, and ninety-four active helpers, make the whole number of native assistants, not including schoolmasters and comparatively uneducated helpers, one hundred and twenty-two. The whole number of laborers now connected with the missions, foreign and native, who depend for their means of living and usefulness on the treasury of the Board, is five hundred and seventeen.

The number of churches formed in the missions is eighty-five. These contain twenty-five thousand eight hundred and seventy-fiw members in regular standing. The admissions to the churches, by a profession of faith, during the year, were one thousand nine hundred and sixty-seven; which is seven hundred and eighty-two more than are reported to have been received into the Congregational churches of the State of Massachusetts, in the same space of time. In this connection it should be stated, that the contributions received by the Board from foreign lands, the amount of which is steadily increasing from year to year, was $8,249 04; and a considerable portion of this game from these native mission churches.

The seminaries for training native preachers and teachers, are seven in number, and contain three hundred and thirty-nine pupils; and there are seven hundred and fifty-five pupils, male and femals, in other boarding-schools. The number of children in free schools is twenty-one thousand seven hundred and thirty, about half of whom are at the Sandwich Islands, and supported by the Hawaiisa government.

Twelve printing establishments are in operation in as many of the missions, with seven type and stereotype founderies, and type for printing in nearly thirty languages. During the past year, $7,644,828 pages are reported to have been printed. This swells the amount of printing from the beginning, in all the missions, to 818,706,481 pages.

Since the foundation of this most useful Institution, more than 25,000 patients have been relieved by its beneficence.

The fiscal, like the medical history of the Infirmary, is a subject worthy of a moment's notice, as an illustration of the character and results of the Institution. Commencing in 1826, with the small fund of $2,700, and $300 in annual subscriptions, the property gradually accumulated without any especial effort on the part of the managers, until, in 1836, it amounted to $16,000; in 1838, to $31,079; in 1842, to $33,476; in 1844, to $38,283; in 1845, $43,379; and in 1846, to more than 50,000; since which period, by the liberality of the Legislature, and the citizens of Boston, it has still farther increased, till it now amounts to $97,286. Of this sum, $70,000 is invested in real estate, leaving a balance only of $27,286 in available funds. And yet, from the year 1829, no appeal in behalf of the funds has ever been made to the public. With the exception of the sums presented by the State and City for the new building, all its funds have slowed to it in the form of voluntary donations from private individuals.-From Dr. Reynold's Address, delivered at the Dedication of the New Building, July 3, 1850.

The gross receipts of the Catholic Fair (according to the Courier) recently held in Faneuil Hall, for the benefit of the St. Vincent de Paul Orphan Asylum, were $3,775,93. After deducting $275,02 for expenses, the directors have the handsome sum of $3,500,96 in their hands, which is to be expended in paying off the old debt(about $1,200) and supporting the Institution. We understand that a wealthy Catholic gentleman of this city intimated to the Sisters of Charity, that, if $3,000 were realized by the Fair, he would make a donation of $5,000 towards the purchase of the building adjoining the Asylum, with a view of enlarging its capacity to do good.

BUSINESS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

We had intended to give an extended chapter on the business operations of the country during the past year, but the variety of matter sent us for insertion has been such as to preclude all articles of comment of much length.

The number of failures from January, 1850, to January, 1851, returned to the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, by the Commissioners of Insolvency, is 372, a smaller number than usual.

That the trade of the Metropolis is steadily advancing, and that our intelligent builders and merchants have confidence in the future, may be seen from the substantial and outward evidences of prosperity displayed by the tasteful Architects of the city in the erection of splendid stores. But few cities can boast of finer warehouses than may be found in Milk and Pearl streets; and when we are assured that the trade of Boston is amply sufficient to warrant such expenditures to the Artist and Mechanic,— such contributions to good taste, the act of noticing such structures becomes both a pleasure and a duty. But for real elegance of finish, we must invite our readers to visit the beautiful stores of Summer street, erected by the Hon. J. C. Gray, and J. P. Thorndike, Esq. On the corner of Washington and Summer streets we find the splendid and extensive Jewelry Establishment of Messrs. Jones, Ball, & Poor.

To use the language of an intelligent editor: "Entering on Washington street, those who have good eyes cast them down a distance of 125 feet—a glittering vista of immense mirrors, and gold and silver, and precious ornaments. Under a superb ceiling of fresco, laid off in squares and lines, and supported on carved corbels, the visitor passes between marble counters, bearing elegant glass cases for retail trade, to the rear of the store, which is intended for the wholesale business. Here the width is 67 feet by 32, while the front is but 28 feet wide. We could not describe in a column all the luxuries that dazzle the eyes in a night view of the interior of this palace."

A visit to such an establishment may be made the source of instruction to the professional man, who wishes to study the manifestations of constructiveness of the people of all civilized nations, as well as of profit to the business man who goes to make purchases.

On the other side of Summer street, nearly opposite the store of Messrs. Jones, Ball, & Poor, may be seen the superb granite building recently erected by John P. Thorndike & Son, the first story and basement of which was planned for Messrs. Chandler & Co., dealers in Dry Goods. This warehouse is one of the most imposing and finished buildings in our city. It is 60 feet front by 150 in depth. The principal entrance is in the centre of the front, by two doors, all of glass, excepting a slight frame, on each side of which is a magnificent window nineteen feet in length, set with five panes of glass, twelve feet seven inches in height, the largest ever imported for windows. The ceiling is sixteen feet from the floor, frescoed by Whittaker, in the most chaste and artistic style.

We notice the above establishments with pleasure, knowing, as we do that, while their prosperous conductors and proprietors are doing liberally their part to add to the many refinements and inducements of our good city, they enjoy a wide reputation for undeviating uprightness in all their dealings, and for those many acts of courtesy to their customers which render the business of trading rather a pleasure than a toil.

The extent of business with California may be inferred, in some degree, from the following Table of Clearances, which we copy from the Boston Traveller:—

The whole number of clearances in the United States for California, from Jan. 1, 1850, to Jan. 1, 1851, are 561, viz.—at

This Company commenced issuing Policies on the first of June, 1845, and in four years have issued 1893 Policies, and received $135,821 in premiums; amount at risk $2,468,420. They have paid, in four years, mineteen losses from death of deceased members, amounting to $42,700. When this Company was formed, it was the intention of the Directors, to fix the rate of cash premiums and deposits at a sum that, together with the accruing interest upon investments, should furnish a revenue just adequate to pay the interest on the capital, the necessary expenses incurred in carrying on the business, and to cover losses, but it was never their intention to endeavor to accumulate money beyond this amount. The rates of premium were prepared with great care on the probabilities of life, according to the Carlyle tables of mortality, and the experience thus far has verified the correctness of these calculations.

Five losses have been paid, amounting to5,500
Six losses are not due, and are unpaid, amounting to 13,000

While the results of the past year afford no occasion to exult in the extrordinary augmentation of the number of policies, and of the amount of funds, the Directors would call attention to the gratifying fact, that the strength of the Company has been considerably increased during a period in which the cholera and other kindred diseases have diminished the ordinary probability of life in different parts of our country. But three of the losses of this year are imputed to cholera, and the Company has been notified of the occurrence of no loss in the last six months. With all allowances for the unfavorable circumstances of the year, the enlargement of the business has not been entirely satisfactory to the Directors, and arrangements have already been made for a change in agencies which have proved to be inactive or unsatisfactory. The well-considered and invariable policy of this Company has been, to prefer the safety and the mutuality of the assured, to the showy advantages of a large number of policies, and an imposing amount of receipts.

WESTERN RAILROAD CREDIT.

The Detroit Tribune, remarking upon the facility with which securities for Western Railway improvements are negotiated at the East, states that, within the past year, the Indiana roads have obtained $1,000,000 in loans; within the past month, the Central has raised an additional loan of $1,000,000; the Milwaukee and Mississippi road, $250,000, and the Chicago and Galena road, $400,000. To this is to be added $2,000,000 of stock taken for enterprises of the West.

These facts indicate the faith which capitalists in the Atlantic cities have in the immense resources of the West; and their readiness to assist in developing them, results from a foresight of the incalculable benefits which are to flow hither from the vast and fruitful regions we are contributing to improve.—Philadelphia North American.

Extracts from Mayor Bigelow's Inaugural Address, Delivered January 6, 1851.

EDUCATION.

"There are at this time, in attendance upon our public schools, nearly 21,000 pupils. The whole number of these schools, (viz: the Primary, Grammar, English High, and Latin Schools) is two hundred. Within the year there has been expended from the City Treasury, for instruction, $182,000; for repairs, fuel, and other incidental expenses of schoolhouses, $56,500; for new schoolhouses, $56,000, the aggregate amounting to $294,500. The public schools, in general, are in a highly satisfactory condition, and the Committees having them in charge have been diligently faithful to their responsible trusts. With all the excellence of our system of instruction, I think it has an important failing, in the endeavor to accomplish too much, especially, when I consider the limited time during which our youth can have the benefit of the schools. A less number of studies, carefully reserving those having the most important practical bearing upon mental improvement, would secure the great ends of popular education better than ambitious endeavors to teach almost everything. These, in too many cases, result in an imperfect acquaintance, on the part of the pupil, with those branches which are most essential to his progress and happiness in life."

CRIME AND PAUPERISM.

"There are at this time, in our jail and houses of correction and reformation, 573 individuals confined for offences against the laws. There are 204 patients in our hospital for the insane, and 1,254 paupers in the almshouses at South Boston and Deer Island. During the year, "out-door relief," amounting to $18,600, has been extended by the Overseers of the Poor to a great number of distressed persons. The cost of this relief, and support of prisoners, lunatics, and paupers during the year, including all expenses of carrying on the several establishments, amounts to $179,000. These expenses do not include the cost of the new edifices. In offset to the foregoing amount, the City has received, or is entitled to, from the Commonwealth, on account of State paupers and lunatics, $36,000. Of the inmates of our almshouses and lunatic hospital, a great majority are natives of other countries. Many of this class, including imbeciles both in body and mind, were paupers in the country whence they came, and nearly all were utterly destitute upon their arrival here. The emigration of such as these, is a flagrant abuse of the hospitalities of a nation which welcomes to its shores the honest and industrious of every land, who are capable of sustaining a proportionate share in developing the resources, and promoting the welfare, of their adopted country. An abuse so injurious to the interests of the Republic, and bearing with such peculiar hardship upon the Atlantic cities, calls urgently for the corrective interference of the General Government. I recommend that it be made the subject of a respectful memorial on the part of the City Council to the National Congress.

"The new almshouse upon Deer Island is nearly completed. It is built in a plain and substantial manner, being indestructible by fire—a calamity which is a constant subject of apprehension in reference to the edifices now in use upon that island. Its cost amounts to about $150,000, and it is capable of containing two thousand inmates. I am of opinion that it will be found expedient to remove to this edifice, when finished, all the inmates of the House of Industry (at South Botton). Advantages will doubtless result, both in regard to economy and simplicity of administration, by concentrating all that class of unfortunates within a single establishment."

WATERWORKS.

"I congratulate you upon the very gratifying fact, that every section of the City is now supplied with Pure Water. The aqueduct to East Boston, has been completed in a most skilful and substantial manner, and the distribution-pipes now connect with the dwellings and workshops of that thriving place. The expense of the aqueduct, extending more than three miles in length, and crossing three wide estuaries, has been $140,000, that of the reservoir on Eagle Hill, $60,000, and that of the distribution, $113,000; the whole amounting to $313,000, (including cost of land,) and being about $140,000 less than the original estimate.

"The whole cost of the Cochituate Waterworks to the present time, (including those just alluded to,) amounts to $4,321,000, not including The actual debt for this object is about $5,000,000, interest on loans. a part of which is at five per cent interest. The aggregate length of streets, lanes, and courts, through which the main and distribution pipes are laid, exceeds 96 miles. There are, at this time, 18,463 takers of the water. The income during the twelve months, has been about $100,000, and under the new rates will probably amount to $175,000 for the current year, — leaving a balance of interest on the water-loan of about $90,000 unprovided for. This balance, I trust, will be defraved by the annual tax, as I do not suppose it will be your policy to permit the debt to acumulate. Great and onerous as has been the cost of the introduction and distribution of water, I cannot think that any citizen would consent to relinquish the blessings resulting from the undertaking, for a remuneration of the expense incurred."

CITY DEBT.

"The City Debt, exclusive of that contracted for water, amounted, on 1st instant, to $1,756,000, the same being nominally greater than it was a year since by the sum of $133,000. By the recent sale, however, of a portion of the Neck lands, already alluded to, the City has come into possession of available securities, bearing interest, to an amount which exceeds the increase of the debt by nearly $200,000. Of available means, to meet the debt, we have bonds, mortgages, etc., to the amount of $465,000 and the City Wharf, valued at $500,000; to say nothing of the Market and Old State House (jointly yielding, under the new leases, about $46,000 per annum), and nearly ten millions of feet of uplands and flats in the 11th and 12th Wards. The total expenditures from the City Treasury, during the recent municipal year, (exclusive of those on account of the waterworks,) have amounted to $1,940,000, of which sum $1,373,000 have been paid for ordinary purposes; $230,000 on account of City debt; and $356,000 on account of filling up South Bay, and for carrying on construction of almshouse and jail.

"As taxable property is rapidly accumulating in our midst, and as we now have a right to anticipate large annual receipts from sales of lands, I see no reason to doubt that the City debt (proper) may be easily and entirely extinguished within a very few years. To conduce to an event so desirable, it behooves us to enter upon no new project involving great expense, and to administer the finances of the City with all the economy which is consistent with its interest and honor."

EXTRACTS FROM MAYOR FROTHINGHAM'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS, Delivered, January 6, 1851.

The city government went into operation April 26, 1847, and the treasurer, February, 1850, states the debt to be 212,300, - an increase in three years of $139,200, created mainly for the following improvements: For the city hall, $13,654; the new Winthrop schoolhouse,$21,989; the High schoolhouse, $27,273; old Winthrop schoolhouse, $8,632; Harvard schoolhouse, $13,871; Winthrop square, $4,-808; city survey, $2,000; new almshouse, $36,982; estate on Bunker Hill,$5,219; grading Bunker Hill street,$4,603. In addition, there has been raised by taxation, during this period: 1,415 to finish Bunker Hill schoolhouse; $1,640 for primary schoolhouse, and 2,045 for altering Warren school. Other improvements have also been made. If the amount of annual appropriations for schools be added to the amount of permanent improvements, it will show in four years an expenditure of about 170,000 for the single purpose of education. Is there any other community, of no larger ability, that can show such a statement? These improvements, wisely or unwisely made, are all of a permanent character, designed to adorn the city and make it more desirable as a place of residence.

Charlestown is the smallest township, as to territory, in the Commonwealth. It has an area of only 620 acres; of these, 101 are occupied by the State prison, 50 by the navy yard, and 127 are used for public purposes. The tenth of its territory used by the State and the Nation, from which no resources can be drawn to defray local expenses, comprises the most eligible portion of it for commercial purposes, where taxable property of immense value, if it were not thus occupied, would now be certainly concentrated. Though this bears hard on its natural advantages, yet Charlestown has shared largely of the general prosperity. In ten years, its population has increased from 10,872 in 1840, to 15,933 in 1850; its valuation has risen in the same time from $4,837,310 to $8,847,700; and it stands the second city as to population, and the third as to valuation in Middlesex ca Its tax-books indicate a community characterized, so far as the distribution of wealth is concerned, by remarkable equality of condition; while the increase of the general value shows that there is here great individual prosperity.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

A description of the New Jail in Boston, was inserted in the State Record for 1849. There is considerable novelty in the construction of this building, and in that of the Almshouse, Deer Island; the plans have been so highly approved, that they have been adopted in the enlargement of the State Prison at Charlestown, now erecting; in the new Almshouse, in Cambridge; in the new Prison at Dedham, for the county of Norfolk; and in the new Jail in Concord, N. H. Proposals are also made for buildings, on a similar plan, for Prisons, Houses of Refuge, or Almshouses, at Northampton, Providence, New York, New Jersey, and Baltimore. They were designed and drawn by Louis Dwight, Secretary of the Prison Discipline Society, and G. J. F. BRYANT, architect. A statement of the advantages which these buildings possess, has been furnished us by Mr. Dwight, and is subjoined. A more extended description, and a ground plan and elevation of the newAlmshouse, are inserted as additional illustrations.

NEW ALMSHOUSE AT DEER ISLAND.

The form of this structure is that of a "Latin Cross," having its four wings radiating at right angles from a "central building." central building is four stories high; the lower story (on a uniform level with the cellars or work-rooms of the north, east, and west wings) contains the bathing-rooms, cleansing rooms, furnace and fuel rooms; the two next stories contain the general guard-room, to be used also as a work-room; the next story is the chapel; and the upper story is the hospital. The south wing is four stories high; the lower one contains the family kitchens, and entry of the superintendent's family; the second is appropriated for the family parlors of the superintendent, and a room for the use of the directors, together with the entrances and staircases, and the opening or carriage way, for receiving the paupers. The staircases communicating with the guard-room, and with the cleaning rooms in the lower story of the central building, are also located in this story. The two remaining stories will, be used for the family sleeping-rooms, superintendent's office, officers' rooms, and bathing-rooms, - together with the entries, passages, closets, and staircases. Each of the north, east, and west wings is three stories high, with basements and attics over the whole surface of each wing. The basements are for work-rooms. maining stories, including the attics, contain the wards, hospitals, and day-rooms for the inmates, together with the sleeping and inspection rooms for the nurses and attendants.

There are eight circular towers attached to the exterior walls of the north, east, and west wings; they contain the water-closets requisite for the inmates of the building; two of them contain staircases. The water-closets are placed on the level of every story, and entered immediately from the floors thereof, and are disconnected from the main building by a column of air passing through upright openings, in the exterior walls of the towers, opposite to each other, and placed near the walls of the building.

The dimensions of the building are as follows, in round numbers: The centre building is 75 feet square and 75 feet high, each perpendicular corner being subtended by the section of a circle. The superintendent's house, if the building faces the west, makes the west side of the centre building, except the circular corners, and is thrown out by these corners 50 feet by 50 on the ground, and 50 high; so that it stands almost as much separated from the main building as if it were entirely disconnected with it, and is still near enough for the convenience of the superintendent. The north wing, intended particularly for women, is 100 feet by 50, and 50 feet high, i.e. twice as large as the superintendent's house. The south wing, intended particularly for men, is 100 feet by 50, and 50 feet high, the same dimensions as the north wing; and both these wings are separated from the superintendent's house, and thrown out from the centre building like the superintendent's house, by the semicircular corners, for the purposes of better supervision and ventilation. The east wing, intended for the accommodation of different classes, and for different purposes, in the different stories, is 200 feet by 50, and 50 feet high, i. e. twice the dimensions of the north and south wings, and four times the dimensions of the superintendent's house. The north, east, and west wings have three stories, each 12 feet high, above the basement, and beneath the attic. The attic is $9\frac{1}{2}$ feet high, and the basement $8\frac{1}{2}$ feet high. The south wing is four finished stories high, and the floors of these stories are uniform with those of the three other wings. The circular towers attached to the exterior wall of the north, east, and west wings, are each 65 feet high and 13 feet in diameter.

The proportions of the building are arithmetical;—the centre building is a cube of 75 feet, with the corners subtended; the superintendent's house is a cube of 50 feet; the north wing is two cubes of 50 feet each; the south wing is two cubes of 50 feet each; and the east wing four cubes of 50 feet each.

The pappers, as they arrive, are received at a central point, under the eye of the superintendent, in his office, as they approach; thoroughly cleaned, if necessary, in the basement central apartments for cleansing; and distributed, when prepared for distribution, to those parts of the building assigned to the classes to which they belong.

There is a chapel, with a gallery, occupying 75 by 75 feet, on the third floor of the central building, equal in height to two stories. The floor of the chapel is on a level with the attic floors of the wings. It is well-lighted, in a central position, of convenient access from all parts of the establishment, and is commodious enough for those who are able to attend religious worship, out of even a larger population than twelve hundred.

Ė

Large folding-doors, or traversing-doors, are an original feature of this plan, and answer, by being opened wide, and by turning in different directions, important ends, in making rooms for particular purposes, when they are wanted; and when such rooms are not wanted, in being opened wide, or turned back, so as to leave the supervision unobstructed, and change the circulation of the air throughout the establishment.

It is not absolutely a fire-proof building, but the roof is slated; the floors are double, and laid with mortar between them; the ceilings under the floors, and over the rooms, consist of joists, and the bottom of the lower side of the double floors; the walls are brick, built hollow, and without lath and plaster on the inside, or coverings of any kind on the outside; the windows are wooden sashes, but they are set in a thick double brick wall, and may each of them burn without burning another. All the wings are separated from the centre building by thick brick walls, covered and secured, in all their openings, with iron doors and shutters, and rising above the roofs of the wings, so as to make a barricade against fire, behind which the inmates of a wing on fire may retreat, and firemen may be protected.

PRINCIPLES OBSERVED IN THE PLANS.

In all the plans of these buildings there are certain great principles observed, among which are the following: -

- The size of these buildings allows from 600 to 1,000 cubic feet of space to each individual; besides their proportion of space, in the eating-rooms, school-rooms, hospital, and chapel.
- 2. Proportions. The proportions are srithmetic and harmonic, a cube being their germ.
- 3. Concentration. These buildings are all in the form of a cross, having four wings, united to a central cetagonal building; one for the superintendent and his family, and three of them for inmates; the kitchen being in the centre, in the 1st story of the octagon, the supervisor's room over the kitchen, the chapel over the supervisor's room, and the hospital over the chapel.

4. Extension. The parts all radiating from a common centre, a be extended without disturbing the central arrangements and archectural design.

5. Convenience. The keeper's, or superintendent's office, eatin room, and sleeping-room, are all in proximity to the great centr onal building; so that the keeper has evelets and ready access e kitchen, supervisor's room, chapel, and hospital, and all the 3; and he can go through the establishment without going out The inmates receive their food from a large central en; the wings are all under supervision from one central super-The inmates assemble in the chapel and hospital from e wings without exposure, and without leaving the house.

8. Security against Escape. In prisons and Houses of Refuge, where security against escape is of great importance, the construction is such, that, if an inmate breaks out, he breaks in; — that is, if he escapes from his dormitory into the area, he has still another wall or grating to break, while at the same time he is in sight from the supervisor's room. There is, therefore, very little encouragement to try to escape from the dormitories. And if the inmates are in the yards, gardens, or grounds around, the supervision extends outside so easily and perfectly, that it affords great security against escape.

9. Security against Fire. Although buildings according to these plans are not wholly fire-proof, still, the cell floors being stone or iron, the walls brick or stone, the galleries and staircases iron, the doors and gratings iron, the roof slate, and the gutters copper, much of the material is incombustible. Besides, the separate rooms or dormitories are literally fire-proof; and the remaining parts are extensively exposed to constant observation; so that a fire, in its first beginning, is easily discovered and extinguished.

10. Warming by steam, hot water, or warm air. The construction of these buildings is favorable to either mode of warming. If by steam, the steam may be generated in the centre building, and distributed in one-inch wrought-iron pipes, under the windows, in four rows of pipes, one above the other on the upright wall, three inches apart, to be inclosed in a box eighteen inches square, made by the floor for the bottom, the outer wall for the back, a board cover for the top, and an upright board for the front; the pure air to be received through orifices in the outer wall, and the warm air to be passed into the area, through orifices in the front of the box. If the heating is to be done by hot water, substitute a cast-iron pipe, 6 inches in diameter, near the floor, and near the wall, under the windows, within a box, similarly constructed to the box around the If the heating is to be done by warm air, place in the centre building, and in the areas, the Boston School Stove, or, which are on the same principles, Chilson's Furnaces, or any other heating apparatus which is, at the same time, a ventilating apparatus.

11. Lighting. Gas light in the areas, will light all the dormitories, and, wherever distributed, will be easily supervised and controlled from the centre building.

12. Sunlight. Care is taken in these buildings, to have a large surface exposed to the morning, noonday, and afternoon sun. This can be done with the large windows in the outer wall, but it cannot be done with a small window in each small dormitory or cell. Much more sunlight can be brought to shed its healthful and cheering influence over the inmates of these buildings, than if the windows in the external wall were as small as they must be, if the rooms within were made of a small size and placed on the external wall.

13. Artificial Ventilation. Each small room, dormitory, or cell, is provided with a ventilator, starting from the floor of the same, in the the wall, and conducted, separate from every other, to the top of block, where it is connected with a ventiduct, and either acted on by heat or Emerson's ventilating cap. Both at the bottom and of the room there is a slide, or register, over orifices, opening into s ventilator, which are capable of being opened or shut. These utilators are intended to take off impure and light air. In the exnal wall are provided orlifices, pitching outward and downward, to ee off carbonic acid gas, which may be fatal to life, if allowed to cumulate in the lowest part of the building. The large rooms are ovided with such orifices, by carrying every third or fourth window a level with the floor. These means are used to take off the imre and light air, and the heavier and more fatal gasses. To supply re air, all the heating is made by ventilating apparatus.

14. Natural Ventilation. Through the large windows, when med, the air can have free course with all the varying winds, oughout the building, from North to South, from East to West, from South to North, and from West to East. and obliquely in every direction, according to the direction of the wind, through the octagonal central building. the

15. Water for Cleansing and Bathing. For cleansing, water is let on in every room, and furnished liberally in every story; and in different parts of the building, large means are provided for bathing. Nothing is more indispensable, in the plans of such buildings, than convenient and liberal supplies of pure water for cleansing and bathing.

16. Employment. Large provision is made, in all these buildings, of floors and space for employment, under cover, with good and sufficient light, convenience, and supervision. In many old buildings, there has not been employment, because there was no place suitable for it. This difficulty has received great consideration, and every effort has been made entirely to remove it, so that all the inmates of these buildings should be kept out of idleness, which is the mother of mischief. Labor is favorable to order, discipline, instruction, reformation, health, and self-support. But there can be little productive industry, without a place for it. Suitable places have been provided in all these buildings, whether prisons, almshouses, or Houses of Refuge, for employment.

17. Instruction. School-rooms, Privilege-rooms, Chapels, more private rooms and places, comfortably large single rooms, are provided, in which all kinds of good instruction can be given.

18. Humanity. The humanity of these buildings, is seen in there being sufficient space, large light, abundant ventilation, and airing in summer, good places of labor and instruction, and good hospital accommodation for the sick.

- 19. Care of the sick. The Hospital is large, light, convenient, easily accessible, well warmed and well ventilated, so that, if suitable care is not given to the sick, it will not be because there is no place for it,— no suitable hospital accommodations.
- 20. Notifying in Sickness. The separate rooms are so located and distributed, under supervision, from the centre building, that a gentle knock on the inner side of the door of each separate lodging-room, will be heard by the person on duty in the central room for supervision and care; and thus relief can be immediately secured; or, in case of a fit, or sudden and violent attack, without consciousness, the sick person will in all probability be heard, from any separate dormitory in either wing, by the person on duty in the supervisor's room in the centre building.
- 21. Level Floors. It is designed to have no stumbling-place in either building. But on the contrary, that the officers and inmates may walk over any part of the whole, by day or by night on level floors. The stairs are the only places where it is impossible to make level floors.
- 22. Economy. Great economy is used in these structures, in the finish, which is perfectly simple, unadorned, and substantial; affording no harbor for vermin, no place of concealment for fire, and yet durable and decent.

We have thus endeavored to give an outline of the principles which enter into these structures, of their adaptation to the purposes for which they are erected, and of the importance of carrying out the designs according to the plans.

· CRIMINAL STATISTICS.†

Annual Report of Samuel D. Parker, Esq. Attorney of the Commonwealth in the County of Suffolk.

In accordance with the requirements of the Statute, Samuel D. Parker, Esq., the indefatigable and hard-working Attorney of the Commonwealth in Suffolk County, has prepared for transmission to Hon. John H. Clifford, the Attorney-General of the Commonwealth, his annual report of the business which came under his supervision and management during the year 1850. The report occupies forty-five pages of closely-written manuscript, on long, foolscap paper, and shows, on the face of it, that an immense amount of time and labor must have been required to complete it in the minute and systematic manner in which it is presented, and which is so characteristic of the learned gentleman and faithful public officer who compiled it, and to whom we are indebted for the privilege of making the following

^{*} From a Report prepared by Wm. B. Calhoun, Secretary of State.

[†] We are indebted for the statistics of this article to the Mercantile Journal.

The first part of the report enumerates the cases during the year before the Grand Jury, and the Municipal Court of the City of Boston, -the numbers corresponding with the numbers on the Clerk's docket; the offence alleged; the fact, whether or not an indictment was found in each case; the verdict in each case; the amount of costs in each case; the sentence imposed upon each person convicted; and many other items of information. This part of the report shows that, during the year, fifteen hundred and seventy-one cases have come before the Municipal Court, every one of which has been personally attended to on the part of the Commonwealth, by Mr. Parker.

The second part of the report refers to business in the other Courts, to which Mr. Parker has devoted his time and attention in behalf of the Commonwealth. In the Supreme Judicial Court, seven cases came up, wherein Mr. Parker's attendance was required. In one of these, special decree and injunction was decreed. In three others, arguments on exceptions were made before the full Court, for intrusions of wharves beyond the Commissioners' Lines, but the Court have not yet decided them. In another, exceptions were waived, and sentence passed. In another, exceptions were waived, satisfaction made to the injured party, and costs paid, and farther proceedings stayed by the Court. The seventh and last case, was an action of debt on a bond given on suing out a writ of error, in which the question of how much judgment should be given for the Commonwealth has been argued, but no decision has yet been made.

In the Court of Common Pleas, Mr. Parker has commenced three actions on bonds given by debtors committed on Executions, for the prison limits, where the conditions have been broken, the Commonwealth being the judgment creditor. He has also filed thirty-five writs on criminal recognizances, which were not entered on the docket of the Municipal Court, because the sheriff could make no service, or because after service, and before entry, the bail surrendered the principals and paid costs, and the principals were sentenced before the return-day of the writs.

The third and last part of the report states that, at the request of His Excellency the Governor, Mr. Parker (in the absence of the Attorney-General) has examined the documents, and given opinions, in four cases, relative to Executive requisitions and warrants for fugitives from justice. He has been notified of the intention to take the poor debtor's oath at the jail, in the case of four persons, committed on executions of the Commonwealth, and has filed interrogatories to be answered by them under oath. He has collected of the bail, on recognizances in criminal cases, of persons who avoided, and has paid within the year 1850, to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. the sum of $4,131,60.

Besides the great numbers of persons of all ages and sexes, who, for longer or shorter periods, have been sentenced to hard labor in the several penitentiaries at Charlestown, South Boston, and Westboro', the sheriff of Suffolk County has received in the Municipal Court, within the year 1850, for the Commonwealth, for fines and costs, the sum of $15,373,40. The deputy Jailer has also received from persons committed to prison for non-payment of fines and costs, imposed by the Police and Municipal courts, the sum of $2,535,62; and the Master of the House of Correction in this County, has received from persons committed to that Institution, for non-payment of fines and costs, $585,28; and the Clerk of the Police Court has received within the year 1850, for fines and costs imposed by that Court, the sum of $8,235,12 making a total of money collected through the criminal courts in Boston, for the year 1850, of $30,861,02.

UNITED STATES STATISTICS.

ADVANCE OF POWER TO THE WEST.

Dr. Patterson, of the Philadelphia Mint, has published some useful tables, which show the centre of representative population in the United States, at each census, from 1790 to 1840 inclusive. By these tables it appears, that—

The centre of representative population, in 1790, was forty-six miles north, and east of Washington, in Baltimore county, Maryland. In 1800, the centre was sixty-four miles north, and thirty west of Washington, in Adams county, Pennsylvania. In 1820, it was forty-seven miles north, and seventy-one west of Washington, in Morgan county, Virginia. In 1830, it was forty-three miles north, and 108 west of Washington, in Hampshire county, Virginia. In 1840, it was thirty-six miles north, and 160 west of Washington, in Marion county, Virginia.

By these calculations, the accuracy of which we see no reason to question, the representative power, in its rapid and accelerated movement westward, has for fifty years kept nearly the same parallel of latitude. In that time, it has moved ten miles south and 182 miles westward, as follows:—

From 1790 to	1800,	8 miles.
1800 to	1810,	do.
1810 to	1820,	ı do.
1820 to	1830,	7 do.
1880 to	1840	2 do.

The calculation is, that the census of 1850, now taken, will show the centre of representative population, in the State of Ohio.

"A glance at the West, presents to view," says the Carrolton Economist, " a region comprising 2,725,000 square miles, now peopled with a population, exclusive of aborigines, of only ten millions, and capable of sustaining 847,500,000, at the rate that England is populated. Such a number will be found upon it before the middle of the next century, according to the present rate of increase. Its mountains, valleys, lakes, and rivers, are on the grandest scale. Its natural facilities for internal communication are great. The Missouri is 3,500 miles in length, or more than twice as long as the Danube. Ohio is 600 miles longer than the Rhine. Its lakes extend from east to west, over 15 1-2 degrees of longitude, covering an area of 93,000 square miles, and draining a country of 400,000 square miles. The Mississippi and its tributaries alone afford a steamboat navigation of 25,000 or 30,000 miles. Its inland commerce, in 1846, was $432,000-000, more than twice the foreign commerce of the country. The vast chains of railroads and dykes commenced, when completed, intersecting it in every direction, will enhance it. A more bountiful soil, giving richer remuneration to the cultivator, cannot be found on earth.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, there cleared from the United States 3,379 American vessels, tonnage 2,632,788; foreign vessels, 9,816, tonnage 1,728,214,—a decrease, from 1849, of 120,936 in American tonnage, and an increase of 52,505 in foreign tonnage. Deducting 623 vessels, and 180,128 tonnage from California clearances, would show a farther decrease from 1849. Crews cleared in 1850, men 180,774, boys 6,097; decrease from 1849, 9,183.

The whole tonnage of the United States, on the 30th of June last, was 3,535,454 $\frac{2}{9}\frac{2}{5}$. There were built in the United States, for the year ending June 30, 1,860 vessels, with a tonnage of 272,218 54.

FROM THE OFFICE OF THE NORTH AMERICAN

ELECTRIC WASHING FLUID.

MOORE, COLLINS & CO., Proprietors,

No. 67. ANN STREET, BOSTON.

The necessities of mankind have, is all ages, introduced inventions to meet them; and in no age, has there been such a multiplicity of new inventions, as in this present age of steam and electricity. Almost every article in use has been improved to a wooderfile steam, and thousands of new creations. But in no particular department has the success been so limited, or in fact we may say, so near a total failure, as that of washing clothing. Machines of various descriptions have been modelled, built, tried, and throw aside, as inefficient, and entirely useless; countless thousands of dollars have been expended and lost in this way. But recently the subject has been agitated to a very great extent, and the numerous host of inventors seem, like the chrysalls, to have changed themselves, and suddenly to have forsaken the machine shop, and boldly to have entered the laboratory—from the button-eyed Chinaman to the smoking Dutchman; from the doctors of the water-cure the button-eyed Chinaman to the amoking Dutchman; from the doctors of the water-cure school to the doctors of the nameless tribes of Indians inhabiting the Rocky Mountains; school to the doctors of the nameless tribes of indians inhabiting the Rocky Mountais; all have joined to make Cochituate water, together with carbonic, sulphuric, and muristic acids, and with lime, soda, camphene, burning fluid, and spirits of turpentine, articles in great demand. But chemists are familiar with the fact, and know fluid well that all scis are not only destructive to the lungs when inhaled, in vapor, but ultimately destroy the fabric as well as the colors of colored clothing, while from their causatic properties, may persons have nearly lost the use of their hands; and likewise with regard to the spirits of turpentine, which is the basis of burning fluid, in many cases where weakly persons have inhaled its vapor, their immediate dissolution has been attributed to that cause slow. The washing for a time may be accelerated but, not only the certainty of the primate inhaled its vapor, their immediate dissolution has been attributed to that cause alose. The washing for a time may be accelerated, but, not only the certainty of the ultimate destruction of the fabric, but the risk of losing health and life, should certainly make people extremely cautious with regard to using the thousands of miserable trash showered spectate market under the name of Washing Fluids. It must be evident to the most superdial observer, that no washing compound will be of any real use, unless alkalies of great power in their combination shall enter into its composition.

An article of such properties has at length been discovered, that more than fully comes up to the mark, as thousands are ready to testify. This article is the

North American Electric Washing Fluid,

Manufactured by the sole Proprietors, MOORE, COLLINS & CO., No. 67, Ann Street

This article, while it unites such wonderful power that one gill of it, by the directions,

This article, while it unites such wonderful power that one gill of it, by the direction, will do a common washing in less than two hours, in the most satisfactory manner, without a washboard, doing away with two thirds of the labor, and nearly all the wear which clothing is subjected to by the common method of washing, and is harmless to be inhald, in vapor, as the vapor of the tea or coffee pot, and contains no caustic properties, to act unpleasantly upon the hands; and, with regard to colored clothing, it sets the colors, making them brighter, and fiannels are less subject to shrink, consequently softer, and of the most brilliant whiteness. The Proprietors will forfeit one thousand dollars for every gill of this Fluid which shall fail to perform all that is promised with regard to it, where the directions, which are very simple, and accompanying each bottle, are followed.

The public are cautioned with regard to many dealers, who, although they are obliged to keep this invaluable article, still, having a quantity of the before-mentioned worthless and dangerous trash on hand, and afried that it will die there, urge it off upon their unsuspecing customers, in the most unprincipled and heartless manner, endangering human is for the triding consideration of twenty-five cents. Othese, with still less principle, if pesible, will purchase the abominable stuff, which has been run off the track in one piece, because they can get it for almost nothing, offering no other apology than it will after them a profit. Do not hay it of them! If you value your health and life, buy assee by the genuine North American Electric Washing Fluid. Upon each label is a cut, repressing a female holding a bottle of the Fluid, apparently delighted with its astonishing opertion; each being signed by the proprietors, tion; each being signed by the proprietors,

MOORE, COLLINS, & CO.

P. S. — Persons who wish to be supplied with the above article, by barrels, demijohn, boxes of dozens, are respectfully invited to order from the manufacturers, at Bostos, or their agency, Nos. 64 and 66 Barclay street, New York, where they will receive immedian attention.

L. ROSS. Joseph

DESKS AND CHAIRS, FOR SCHOOLS.

Having furnished the city with a great number of this article, and now being engaged in executing further contracts for the city schools, and for those in its vicinity, begs leave to ask your attention to the following graduation of sizes, adapted to pupils four years of age and upwards:

First Size, height 16 inches, for Pupils from fourteen to seventeen years of age.

Second Size, " 15 " " twelve to fourteen years of age.

Third Size, " 14 " " ten to twelve years of age. Fourth Size, " " eight to ten years of age. 13 " six to eight years of age.
" five to six years of age.
" four to five years of age. " " Fifth Size, 12 66 " Sixth Size 10

Sixth Size, "10 " " five to six years of age.

Seventh Size," 9 " " four to five years of age.

Orders predicated upon this arrangement of sizes, will be sure to meet the wants, and te supply the deficiences long complained of in School Furniture.

In the manufacture of DESKS and CHAIRS, Mr. R. has introduced all the improvements that time, practical observation of teachers and other scientific gentlemen, interested in the matter, have suggested; consequently he has great confidence in appealing to School Committees, and all others that are or may be in want of this kind of Furniture, for their patronage, assuring them that their orders shall be faithfully and promptly executed; moreover, he may observe, that by the aid of ingenious steam-power machinery, skilfull workmen, and choice seasoned stock, he is enabled to execute the work more expeditiously, cheaper, and better than can be procured elsewhere. cheaper, and better than can be procured elsewhere.

The legs of the Desk and Seat are Iron, of a classical design, firmly screwed on to the wood, and both articles then are to be permanently screwed to the floor. By reference to the cut, their simplicity, strength, and adaptation to the purposes intended, is so obvious, that no further explanation seems requisite; they have given entire satisfaction wherever they have been used.

All communications in relation to CHAIRS, DESKS, TABLES, BOOK-CASES, or other Furniture for School Rooms, please to direct to JOSEPH L. ROSS, at his Manufactory, Corner of Ivers and Hawkins Streets, Boston; at which place may be seen the article, Above named, in progress to completion.

MR. THACHER BEAL:

MR. THACHER BEAL:

Sir — After examining the construction and materials of the Patent Diaphragm Filter, and making experiments on its power of rendering turbid and colored water perfectly clear, I formed the opinion that it is a contrivance of high value and utility. It is constructed in imitation of the great natural Filters of our Globe; of permanent materials, wholly unobjectionable, and admirably adapted to that universality of application, called for by water under different pressures.

I know of no application of the scientific principles of construction, so simple, and so deserving of general adoption, as the present.

Respectfully,

MUTUAL

ASSOCIATION.

No. 8, Scollay's Building,

Entrance on Tremont Row.

In calling the attention of the public to this Institution, it may be worthy of remark, that though Health Insurance Companies are but of recent date in this country, yet in England they have long been considered as the greatest blessings and benefits of the age. There, where the price for labor is so small as to preclude all hopes of the Mechanic or Laborer ever obtaining a sufficiency beforehand to support himself or family, should sickness or accident prevent him from attending to his daily labor, the want of some such an Institution was deeply felt.

As an experiment, Health Insurance Companies were formed, and as such more than realized the brightest hopes of their projectors. Thousands have been the cases where the head of a family has been prostrated upon a bed of sickness, with no provision for himself or wife and children, had it not been for the aid received by his insurance policy. By this he was enabled to remain with his family around him, instead of being obliged to remove the Charlett Mariella and his family around him, instead of being obliged to remove to the Charity Hospital, and his family scattered abroad, homeless, to seek their bread of strangers. But now, thanks to his fortunate foresight, he was sure of receiving a weekly allowance, amply sufficient to keep want far away from his door. This happy thought cheered him through his sickness, and has often done more to restore the bloom and strength of health, than all the power of the Leech's art.

or health, than all the power of the Leech's art.

This is no fancy sketch, but reality. Even in our own more favored country, and the system is yet in its infancy, we can see many cases very similar to the one we have sketched above. And we would put the question to every man in humble circumstances, whether, if sickness should lay its heavy hand upon them, and it may at any moment, have they say support for themselves or families; if not, what awaits them? Shall it be aid from the hand of charity, or support from the public fund?—both alike repulsive to the man of hand of charity, or support from the public fund (—soin aims repulsate to the minimum sensibility and spirit.

In the Mutual Health Insurance Association, you can find the antidote, and we earnestly entreat the attention of all to its object, for its great advantages and benefits must be apparent to every one. What happier thought can thrill the breast of the husband and father, than the consciousness, that, though called away at any time, yet he was sure of leaving his family well provided for?

The office is located in Scollay's Building, Court Street, where every information will be charefully given to applicants.

MAYNARD & NUILS

ACK .WR]

THIS INK has stood the test of thirty years experience, and during this time has been constantly increasing in public favor and patronuge, and is now the leading article in the It flows with freedom, becomes permanently black, does not mould under any circumstances, and is adapted to either metallic or quill pens.

> Office of Merchants' Ins. Co. ? Boston, Nov. 18, 1848.

MESSRS. MAYNARD & Noves,

I have used your Writing Ink for the last sixteen years. In 1840, I gave you a certificate of its excellence, and having continued its use ever since, to my entire satisfaction, my opinion is confirmed in its superiority. It flows freely from the pen, and is in all respects the best Ink I have ever used. The other officers in the institution agree with me in the opinion here expressed. GEORGE HOMER, SECRETARY.

Boston, May 27, 1846.

For twenty years past I have had occasion to use Ink daily, and sometimes for the nicest of penmanship; occasionally, necessity or curiosity has led me to make use of the article made by different individuals,—but I can cheerfully state that I have never found any that combined so many good qualities as that made by MAYNARD & NOYES. N. D. GOULD, Teacher of Penmanship.

Registry Deeds, Boston, Nov. 20, 1847.

MESSES. MAYNARD & NOVES.

I have made use of your Writing Ink for the Recording of Deeds, &c., the past twentyfive years, and having found it to suit my wishes and purposes entirely, take pleasure in renewing my testimonial of its superiority. From the appearance of the Records in my Office, I am satisfied it is superior to any I have used, and consider it particularly adapted for all purposes, where permanency of color is requisite or desirable. It flows well from the pen, and does not mould; and my oldest Records prove it to be unalterably black. H. ALLINE, Register of Deeds.

Boston, January 10, 1848.

MESSRS. MAYNARD & NOVES,

Gentlemen,—it is now, I believe, more than twenty years since the School Committee passed an order for using your Black Writing Ink in the City Schools. I have used it during that period, and deem it a first rate article, and cheerfully recommend it to others. It flows freely from the pen, and increases in blackness after being committed to the paper, and the color is durable. 1 know of no Ink equal to yours, and I have tried many kinds, both English and American.

P. MACKINTOSH, Jr.

Principal of the Writing Dep., Hancock School.

MESSRS. MAYNARD & NOYES,

Gentlemen,—Your note of the 10th inst., asking us to state the length of time we had used your Writing Ink, and our opinion of its quality, was duly received. We have made use of it generally for the last twenty years, and have found it always of satisfactory quality, being free from those objectionable points so troublesome and common in writing liquids generally. Wishing for it a still more extensive sale, we are, gentlemen, Your obedient servants,

J. M. BEEBE & CO.

Boston, October 15, 1849.

Post Office, Boston, Oct. 2, 1843. The Black Writing Ink manufactured by Messes Maynard & Noyes, has been used in this office for several years past, Other Inks have during that time been tested, but theirs has been in every instance preferred. For fluidity, blackness, and permanancy, theirs has been in every instance products the three important requisites, none has been found equal to it.

GEO. W. GORDON, Post Master.

CELEBRATED PREMIUM

HOT-AIR FURNACES.

These celebrated Furnaces, which have stood the test of more than fourteen years, are now offered to the public with very recent improvements, which render them unrivalled in all the qualities which constitute a perfect Furnace. The Fire Pot is cast with clongated cones running into the Air Chamber, which insure its durability and make it vastly superior to other pattern fire-pots. A new mode of retaining the heat in the Air Chamber, and securing a larger radiating surface than formerly, has been invented, and an arrangement to remove the ashes from the radiator, without entering the Furnace or disturbing the brick work, has been adopted.

More of these Furnaces than of any other kind, have been put up in this city and vicinity, and are giving unrivalled satisfaction.
